Local man jailed for dangerous driving offences

TWO days after being charged with dangerous driving, a man unlawfully took his brother's motor cycle, lost control of it on a blind bend, and collided with a car in which there were a number of children, Cardiff Crown Court heard.

David Chinnock (24) of The Avenue, Pontycymer, admitted charges of dangerous driving, careless driving, aggravated vehicle taking and driving without insurance.

REPORT by AJ SICLUNA

He was jailed for eight months, disqualified from driving for 18 months, and ordered to take the extended test.

Prosecutor David Wooler said Hayley Lenehan, a hospital worker, was driving near McArthur Glen, when she was aware of a Mazda vehicle coming up fast behind her. It hit her Renault Clio and she stopped. She got out and spoke to the driver, Chinnock, who indicated he didn't have any insurance.

He then accelerated his vehicle towards her, making a screeching sound, struck her thigh and made off.

For several days, she was forced to take painkillers and has become nervous about driving. She also lost her voice.

Mr Wooler said the defendant admitted he was the driver who hadn't been insured. He also admitted he had been drinking.

Two days after being charged with dangerous driving, he took his brother's 400cc motorcycle and on the A4064, lost control on a blind bend and hit a car containing children.

The vehicle's bumper was damaged and when approached by the driver, Chinnock gave a false name.

The court heard he had a previous conviction for possessing mephadrone.

His counsel, Richard Ace, said: "He is hardworking and has a stable family background. He concedes that he is at risk of a custodial sentence."

"Thankfully," he said, "the injury to the first driver was not serious and in the second incident, he injured himself."

"There is a great degree of remorse," said Mr Ace.

Judge Richard Twomlow said the first driver had described herself as being "an emotional wreck" the day after she was struck. And, he said, she had lost her voice because of stress.

Charity quiz at The Swan raised £500 for Scope

ON Sunday, September 21, I had the pleasure of presenting a cheque for the sum of £500 in aid of Scope, a charity for disabled people, to John Rees - who added a further £520 by completing the Iron Man challenge in Tenby.

The money has been raised from a Sunday evening quiz which I hosted at The Swan Inn, Nottage over the last few weeks.

Since January 2013 the quiz has made £5,300 for 15 different charities, an outstanding amount to help worthy causes.

The money has been raised by donations of 10p for an incorrect answer and various other ways of collecting money.

I would like to thank all who participated in the quiz and also all the volunteers: my husband, Andrew, Kay and David Boswell, and Marion and Clive Jones, who collected the money, dealt out raffle tickets for correct answers and counted funds collected over the weeks.

Richard 'Dickie' Harris also contributed by selling the football card to enhance money raised for the cause.

Special thanks also go to Eddie Edwards and Nigel Strong, who donated mouthwatering vegetables, raising £113.70 between them. A 'Guess the Weight of the Cabbage' competition also raised a further £71, a fun activity started by Cliff Hopkins. Thanks also go to Dave and Anne Prosser for their delicious home-made jam adding a further £7 to the fund.

On Sunday, August 31 after the quiz, Tracey Walmsley completed the Ice Bucket Challenge outside the Swan Inn. In all, she raised £85.50 through sponsorship towards the charity, an amazing amount to help the cause once more.

The quiz will continue at The Swan Inn starting at 6pm every Sunday with the new charity Action for Children. All are welcome to participate, with no written pages. Come along and join in the fun at any time during the evening.

LETTERS EXTRA

'Inquiry needed on Welsh NHS'

THE National Health Service in Wales has been the subject of many letters on these pages in recent months and years, but never has it faced a starker warning than that delivered by the British Medical Association just a few days ago.

The organisation that represents 7,000 doctors has called for an independent inquiry into the Welsh Health Service and predicted 'meltdown' if swift action isn't taken.

The BMA joins a senior Labour MP, a patient's watchdog, the college of emergency medicine, and the man who conducted England's recent NHS inquiry, in calling for similar action from the Labour Government in Wales.

Welsh Conservatives agree – but given the Welsh NHS is run by Labour you'd expect that, wouldn't you? The truth is, this is not about political posturing or point scoring.

I have been calling for an NHS inquiry for 18 months and I'm willing to work with the other political parties to deliver it.

Just hours after the BMA's call, an investigation was announced following the death of a woman in an ambulance while it was queuing outside a hospital. My heartfelt thoughts go out to all those affected by that tragedy and I hope answers are quickly forthcoming.

The evidence is stacking up and it's more than clear that there are serious questions to answer over standards of care in the NHS.

An independent all-Wales inquiry would tackle those issues head on and safeguard our Health Service for future generations. Support for that continues to grow rapidly and I urge the Welsh Government to begin implementation.

Andrew RT Davies, Welsh Conservative Leader.

Airport is proud of its Nato role

IWOULD like to thank Fiona Guthrie, whose letter regarding Cardiff Airport during Nato was published in The GEM on September 11. We are very pleased that all the planning ahead of Nato paid off and that disruption to passengers and people in the local community was minimised.

NATO was a hugely exciting project for our team. We are all very pleased that Wales, the cities of Cardiff and Newport, and Cardiff airport had the opportunity to showcase what we can all do on the world stage.

During Nato week, Cardiff airport dealt with 17 heads of state/government, 13 foreign ministers, 15 defence ministers, 2 heads of delegation, lots of military personnel and overseas media along with the accompanying 800 pieces of baggage (roughly 10-12 tonnes).

I couldn't be more proud of the teamwork displayed amongst our own staff and all of the different agencies involved in the operation, which ensured our day-to-day flight programme was unaffected and our customers were able to take their flights as normal.

Debra Barber, Managing Director, Cardiff Airport.

Commissioner praises Porthcawl initiative for people with dementia

THE Older People's Commissioner for Wales' team has visited a project in Porthcawl that is providing vital support to people from the area living with dementia, as well as those who are at risk of becoming lonely or isolated.

The commissioner's team visited Porthcawl Community Café, where they met and spoke with staff from Crossroads Care Bridgend and older people who attend a weekly lunch club.

While the initial plan was to provide the service for people living with dementia and their carers, Crossroads have opened up the service to everyone, with other locals, tourists and socially isolated older people now attending as well.

Around 20 older people come together each week for lunch and to play cards, while Crossroads staff also run a bric-a-brac stall outside the community café to raise extra funds for their work.

The commissioner, Sarah Rochira, said: "Crossroads Care's community cafe is a wonderful example of a dementia-supportive initiative providing an accessible environment for people with dementia to meet regularly and take part in social activities that are both therapeutic and enjoyable.

"What makes this particular project even more impressive is the fact that it is has been made socially inclusive and it also provides a friendly environment for other older people who may otherwise be at risk of becoming lonely and isolated."

The visit to meet the group formed part of the Commissioner's Engagement Roadshow, which has met with thousands of older people during the past year.

For further details about the engagement roadshow, and to find out more about the work of the Older People's Commissioner for Wales, visit www.olderpeoplewales.com.

Youth charity on look-out for new blood

KPC YOUTH, the charity based in Pyle, works with young people aged over eight across the borough to offer a wide range of diversionary activities, advice, information and support.

In addition, the centre also works with young people who struggle with education, and those who are not in education, training or employment to give them better opportunities in life!

Project manager Alison Mawby told The GEM: "KPC has now been running for over 15 years, has grown enormously and broadened what it offers.

"The charity is now at an exciting (but very challenging!) stage, where it seeks to become more sustainable, and also to develop from being just a youth organisation, into a project working with young people's families and the wider community.

"KPC currently has a small committed board of trustees, and is seeking new members from our community to join the board, bring new skills and experience, and help us with our transformation from being a youth charity into a youth and community charity, and also to help take us through the process of developing our new building."

If you have relevant skills you feel you could bring, want to make a difference for the community and have some spare time, contact Alison on either 01656 749219 or email kpcyouth@hotmail.com

Bridgend Lions keep their focus on charity work

WORLDWIDE help and assistance for blind and partially-sighted people has been a prime objective of Lions International since the club was established in the USA in the 1920s.

Nearly 100 years on, it is a mission that continues as the need for help remains. To maintain public awareness it is marked by a World Sight Day, held annually in October.

Bridgend Lions Club, well known for its local charity fundraising work, is also proud to play its part in the international initiative.

In partnership with local opticians and the eye clinic at the Princess of Wales Hospital, the club collects and recycles old and unused spectacles. Hundreds of pairs of specs are sent monthly by them to a central Lions' workshop in Essex, where they are sorted and sent on for use in developing countries. In particular, the club has received many thousands of specs from the Optic Shop, Bridgend and as a token of their appreciation, they presented the opticians' manager, Janine Humphreys, and their team with a framed certificate to thank them for their achievement.

John Craxton, Bridgend Lions' project co-ordinator, said that he was pleased to acknowledge the efforts of their busy staff in taking the time to participate in the Lions' global sight campaign.

He added: "The club will be delighted to receive old pairs of glasses from the general public who can drop them in the Lions specs bin at The Optic Shop in Nolton Street."

Laurie Brophy – someone who opens up new horizons for the over-60s

by CAROLINE SARLL

IF there is anyone out there who can match the astonishing achievements of Laurence Brophy, The GEM would love to hear about it. In the meantime, Caroline Sarll met the amazing 82-year-old adventurer – and found that his life story was just as surprising!

IT can be no coincidence that Laurie Brophy's name rhymes with trophy. The 82-year-old grandfather and former languages teacher from Pencoed arrives at my house, all trainers and trackies, with a rucksack full of medals and mementoes from almost 20 years of literal globe-trotting ("though sometimes it's turned into a tired plod").

It is an arsenal to be proud of, hard (and often painfully) won during the toughest of challenges, embarked on at the relatively ripe age of 67 and likely to defeat someone 50 years his junior. Three deserts conquered out of the Four Deserts Race (each 250k), described by Time magazine as "the ultimate test in human endurance": Gobi (2003), Sahara, (2005), Atacama (twice, 2009/2011). "Those are the windy, hot and dry ones. I don't fancy the fourth, Antarctica. Too cold for me".

To those epic crossings, he casually adds a few more desert runs: the Moroccan Marathon des Sables, "the toughest footrace on earth" (twice, 1999 and 2002) and the Jordan Desert Cup (2002).

Three London marathons (one dressed as a badger), countless other UK marathons (Cardiff, of course), numerous 10k runs ("Seven times in Swansea, 1997-2007).

Laurie has completed so many treks that, despite his razor-sharp mind, keeping a tally is tough and he has to email me a chronological list when he gets home (computer savvy, as well as prodigiously fit: wow). When he includes the Bornem Death Hike in Belgium (2006, 64 miles in 24 hours), its ominous title underlines the seriousness of Laurie's achievements: only half who start make it to the finish and the 2010 event claimed one casualty.

LJ Brophy (is it me, or does that name not smack of distinction?), whipper-thin, white-haired and always wired for action, debunks the notion of the prototype armchair pensioner.

"I'm not an 'oldie' – that makes me furious. I am getting on, but that doesn't mean you can't keep active". Active yes, but multi-marathons? Laurie's retort: "Why not?" Earlier this week, to tie in with the autumn equinox, in a casual nod to pagan cycles, ("heralding a new phase spiritually – perhaps a time for reflection"), Laurie set himself another challenge, this time a little closer to home. "If you don't keep setting yourself goals, life is not worth living".

At 11am, after a bike, train and bus ride, he set off, alone, from Brecon, to complete the Taff Trail, at 55 miles, a piece of cake for this veteran adventurer. He completed the trail in 22 hours, 53 minutes, raising money, yet again, for local charity Y Bont and he finished in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

"I didn't sleep. I have done during other treks, often at the side of the road. I'm used to kipping under the stars".

In a week that has seen a major discovery in my own family – an Egyptian coffin lid was discovered in my grandfather Tiger Sarll's house (he was an adventurer and explorer) and was sold at auction for £12,000 – my attention has been focused on what makes the maverick personality: what makes an ordinary mortal push the boundaries, go for gold, even seek out danger?

Lanky and lithe – Laurie virtually skips up the six steps on the veranda – I push this modest, self-effacing, alarmingly fit octogenarian ("If I'm not walking, I'm cycling") further on the motivation behind his extraordinary achievements.

His early life is a revelation, encompassing naked schooling (really), canoeing solo to Italy and being mistaken for a spy by the French Army.

It's like securing an interview with Dr Livingstone, Chay Blyth and the fictional Tom Brown, all rolled into one.

Sitting ramrod straight on the sofa (he must have bones of iron and was told 11 years ago that he had the lung capacity of a man in his twenties), he recounts his story with gentle enthusiasm, inadvertently shedding light on his exceptional drive and on the causes of his lifelong self-sufficiency and capacity for solitude, which his many marathons have required: "If you have a companion, you have to share decisions. I prefer my own company".

Born on February 10, 1932, in South Battersea, his father, a stonemason, died when he was just three, of pneumoconiosis. Having experienced such a loss myself, I know that the untimely death of a parent is key in the development of the classic 'carpe diem' personality.

Laurie and his mother then went to live with one of her married sisters in Birmingham. Raised during the Depression, money was scarce, but Laurie remembers his early childhood with fondness, saying that he was "happy and contented".

His mother, "a hard worker", made it her goal to provide well for Laurie and was never without a job. Laurie wonders if the financial assistance available to single mothers might have been one of the catalysts in the next stage of his development when, at the age of six, he was duly despatched to one of the first open air schools in the country, Hunter's Hill.

Instigated by the Quaker Cadbury family, these schools were designed to educate the city's 'delicate' children whose schooling had suffered due to malnutrition, asthma, bronchitis and other respiratory diseases.

Laurie reflects wryly that he "doesn't recall being a sickly child", deducing that his attendance there as a boarder perhaps allowed his mother to work even more, without "worrying about me".

The classrooms were built with three sides constantly open to the fresh air, the latter deemed to be a panacea for all the ailments endured by the 120 boys ("four dormitories, 30 in each").

"In the winter, we wore corduroy knickerbockers, changing our clothes once – and showering twice – weekly. In the summer, we only wore daps, an aertex shirt and shorts – no underpants – and were regularly told, by the all-female staff, to strip off and run around naked in the surrounding meadows".

"No question in those days of inappropriateness or potential allegations."

"We never gave it a second thought. Most of the teachers were all lovely and we developed close relationships with them all – they were, of course, in loco parentis. It was completely innocent and actually quite idyllic."

"It may well be where I got my love of exercise from. I won the high jump on sports day when I was 10, clearing almost four foot".

The question is – what makes Laurie run?

Laurie wasn't a fast runner – "even then endurance seemed to be more my thing". There were trees to climb, fields to explore and lessons held outside."

Swallows and Amazons and The Famous Five incarnate. No boarding school experience would be complete, however, without a hint of Roald Dahl gruesomeness.

"We had a supervisor called Miss Lickerish (seriously), who used to dispense tablets to all the pill takers.

"I clearly had some sort of anaemia, so was in the regular line-up. She made us swallow the pills in front of her before we sat down.

My medication should have been taken with a meal, and I was soon gripped with agonising stomach pains and ended up writhing around on the playground steps. No supper for me that night – and Miss Lickerish never asked me how I was".

Other recollections include the 'toilet issue', which resulted in tears soon after his arrival. "I started mid-term so missed the usual induction. I'd never used a toilet anywhere except my own home and thought there were no others in the whole world. I remember thinking I'd have to wait until the end of term before I could go".

Laurie smiles at this memory, but I sense there are depths not fully plumbed. A six-year-old, away from his mother, in a strange environment.

A trauma, or character-building? Add to this Nurse Barrett, whom Laurie remembers as "a bit of a terror" and the Blythesque insouciance gives way to a less settling picture.

But Laurie remains adamant that it was a positive experience overall – and clearly a source of inspiration in his life. Hardship can also foster determination and greatness. It was also a period which established his nurturing side, a facet which he drew on during his teaching career and as a running coach in more recent years.

"I befriended a boy who wore callipers, as did many of the pupils. He'd had so many ops that he'd actually lost the power of speech. He was about four years older than I was, and it really impressed the teachers that I'd taken him under my wing. They presented me with a little silver medal in assembly for being caring and friendly".

I recall a medal Laurie had especially made for one of my daughters when he helped her with her running in Nottage Primary School (she now represents south Wales in the 800m, so thank you Laurie).

This is a man who, from his own experiences, values endeavour – and knows how vital it is to reward it. These small touches are often overlooked in our stretched-to-capacity state system. But they mean such a lot and provide the encouragement that can lead to outstanding success.

A modern day nomad he may be, but his avuncular mentoring and volunteering hints at a need for social interaction, despite his periods of isolation.

The outbreak of war brought a further change in young Laurie's life. Having returned to school on September 1, war was declared on the 3rd.

"We were given our own clothes back after an extra shower – and then told we'd be going home. They divided us up into 10 groups of a dozen children and we took the train to Birmingham.

"Then we walked to our respective homes. I was the last to be dropped off. Our group leader asked if the flats were where I lived – then off she went, without even looking back. My mother was out at work, so I had to sit on the steps, waiting for her to come home.

"Luckily, a woman saw me and took me into her flat – and gave me a banana. Due to the rationing that followed, I think that was the last banana I had for many years".

Those years that followed were lonely ones. After returning briefly to Hunter's Hill, Laurie was one of three who passed the Eleven Plus, taking him to King Edward's School for Boys. He returned to living with his mother, who was, by now, working in a munitions factory, making shells for guns.

She left early in the morning and Laurie had to get himself to school. He often had a shilling to spend at one of the then widespread British Restaurants, state-run, cheap eateries, to ensure everyone got a square meal.

"It was nine pence for a main course and three pence for a dessert. I took my own plate, so it was like an early takeaway, I suppose".

Ever the altruist, Laurie "shared the meal with the cat". It is a sobering picture of a young boy, trying to make his way in the world. "I was lonely, and had to become resourceful. I read a lot – my early memories are of the Rupert Bear annual, which probably fostered my love of rhyming couplets.

"I suppose you could say that I had to get to know myself pretty well and that I learned how to be totally self-sufficient." That, of course, became a vital survival tool in his future marathon missions.

Laurie left school at 16 – "with little money, there was no hope then of any further education" – and ended up in a routine office job with the Esso Petroleum Company. A stint of National Service followed, and then a job with the Prudential Insurance Company. It was during this period that Laurie got his "epiphany moment" – one which was to change his life dramatically.

"Everyone in the office would come in every Monday morning, sit at the same desk and just talk about the mundane things they'd done at the weekend, like gardening jobs, what TV they'd watched. In an instant, the penny dropped – there was a world out there.

"Without much thought – I'd always been interested in opera and Italian culture – I decided to go to Italy".

How he got there is a conversation stopper. Forget the train, or even car. Laurie went a large chunk of the way by ... canoe.

"I had got myself a two-seater some time before, thinking I could travel places with a friend perhaps. But that never happened". He cut his teeth on the canals of Birmingham, moving on to the Rivers Avon and Severn and eventually negotiating the waters around London.

"I'd get the train to Southend in the evening and then canoe across the Thames Estuary in the dark being carried willy-nilly by the tide – once ending up on the Isle of Sheppey – and dodging the cargo boats to and from the Pool of London".

His canoe – a canvas-bottomed one – soon sprang a leak, caused by an ill-fitted patch Laurie had applied. "It had flotation bags, so I knew it couldn't sink, but as I was 10 to 12 miles from shore, I suppose it was a bit hair-raising".

He eventually set off for Italy from London. A colleague of his who waved him off phoned back to the office, saying, "He'll never make it". Unfortunately, he was partly right – Laurie had to abandon the canoe at Dover due to rough seas and unfavourable tides.

He seems to have an innate impatience with fine details, focusing, perhaps, on the bigger picture – "No, I didn't think to check the tides". But he was undeterred. He and the canoe boarded the ferry and then crossed to Calais, where he continued his journey by water.

"But I soon got fed up on the canals, just being surrounded by concrete walls, so I put the canoe on a trolley and started walking. There was another spell on the river, until it became blocked off. When I got onto dry land, I started walking through some fields, which were full of huts.

"A bugle sounded and a load of soldiers appeared. I had somehow walked into a French Army camp. I was instantly arrested and taken before the Colonel. Luckily, he took one look at me, with my guitar, radio and small camping stove and instantly concluded that I wasn't a spy!".

While sleeping in a ditch in France, he recalls listening on his trusty radio to Dame Joan Sutherland singing 'I Dreamed I Dwelt In Marble Halls' from Balfe's The Bohemian Girl. Simply dressed and liberated from material trappings, the lyrics must have seemed like the soundtrack of his travels.

For him no 'vassals and serfs' or 'riches too great to count'. Instead, an existence rich in empirical wisdom. In our overly superficial world, I warm to Laurie's 'weltanschauung', divested of the trappings of greed and possessions.

A spell in Perugia, learning Italian, eventually made Laurie realise that there was a lot more to life than an office job. He decided he wanted to be a teacher. Three A-levels at night school – Italian, English and Spanish – then he enrolled as a mature student at Cardiff University, to study Italian, where he met his wife Ruth, also a linguist.

They got married in Laurie's second year of studies and two daughters followed. Laurie got a job teaching French in Ferndale Comprehensive, then moved to Pencoed Comprehensive, where he taught Italian and Spanish. "And that's where the running thing really began. I suppose I got bored again really, thinking there was more to life than just the job.

"I started playing five-a-side and then, when the team eventually split up, thought – what next? I was now well into my forties, but wanted to keep fit, so I began jogging – often to and from school".

It wasn't long before Laurie outgrew the challenge of that 'nursery' run and he was soon attempting various half-marathons, such as Aberdare. A change of career to Teaching Assistant, the passing of 20 more years – and then, at the ripe age of 67, he felt he could tackle a bigger challenge – the first of his London Marathons. "But that, too, soon became a bit 'samey' for me – and that's when I read about the Marathon des Sables".

So what keeps this 82-year-old "keeping on"? What really is his motivation for such lengthy, punishing regimes? Trips which have seen him put on a drip, wander off course and face utter exhaustion?

Is there an element of a real life Forrest Gump, with Laurie running away from something? Or is it simply a case of 'raison d'être'? His own personal bucket list, with Laurie 'bucking' the notion of age equalling infirmity?

At the end of our three-hour, armchair marathon (apologies) interview, Laurie packs up his trophies and medals and I offer to drive him to the bus stop.

As if. He jogs off, heavy rucksack on his back, not an ounce of flesh on his slender frame.

"I don't really have a proper training schedule. I just use my legs whenever possible". What simple wisdom. What an inspiration.

Next week: The desert days – losing his way and the plot – and an exclusive report on Laurie's Taff Trail challenge.

Laurie's races all take place in hot, arid lands, but the temperatures can drop at night, hence the need for warm clothing.

It's 'hello and goodbye' at Cor Bro Ogwr!

COR Bro Ogwr recently bade farewell to its conductor of the past five years, Edward-Rhys Harry.

As the choir's chairperson, John Trotter, remarked: "We have travelled the world with Edward; Russia, America, London and ... Reading!"

The choir also travelled along another journey with Edward, having had the privilege of performing some of Edward's own new choral compositions.

Edward is now completing his MPhil degree in the field of musicology at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama, and has recently won a prestigious scholarship to study for a PhD in choral composition in Aberdeen with Professor Paul Mealor.

While the choir will miss Edward and his naughty sense of humour, choristers in south Wales will have the opportunity to continue working with him as he is shortly to take up the baton as artistic director of the relaunched South Wales Choral Union, whose first concert in January 2015 will take place in All Saints' Church, Porthcawl.

The choir's new musical director is Nick Bromilow, a graduate from Southampton University now living in Bristol, where he conducts both the Redland Green Community Chorus and the Highbridge and Burnham Choral Society. Nick plays the French horn, piano and also sings tenor.

Rehearsals have already started for the choir's Christmas concert in Porthcawl on December 13, with Nick devoting his energy and enthusiasm for pieces from John Rutter, Edward-Rhys Harry, Messiah and some old favourites.

Cor Bro Ogwr is looking forward to the challenges of its new young conductor! Dominique Spearey

WITH very little advance publicity, the Welsh Rockabilly Fair (with a burlesque fringe) packed the Hi-Tide Inn last weekend.

Rockabilly may be a niche music these days, but the fans headed for the town, eager to see the groups who are keeping the sound alive.

As these photos show, they embraced the fashions (and the hairstyles) of the 1950s, and they were only too eager to get out on the dance floor and jive the night away!

In the adjoining marquee, traders were selling the fashions and CDs from the period.

Safe and laptop are stolen in a school burglary

DETECTIVES in Bridgend are investigating a report of a burglary at a local evangelical school.

They believe a woman and two men were involved in the burglary at the Wales Evangelical School of Theology during the early hours of Sunday morning, September 14.

Fire doors were forced open and a safe was taken, which contained a quantity of cash, along with an overhead projector and a laptop.

The woman is described as white, around 5ft 3" in height, of medium build aged between 30-40 years of age. She is believed to have been wearing a black or dark coloured hooded jumper, with a black bin bag and a crowbar.

described as white, around 6ft 2" in height, of thin build aged between 30-40 years of age with very short blonde hair. He is understood to have been wearing a black hooded jumper and was carrying a black bin bag and a crowbar.

PS Mark Simmonds said: "A very distinctive laptop was stolen during the burglary, which has both Korean and English lettering on the keypad."

"It is highly likely that the thieves deemed the laptop effectively useless to them and may have thrown it away, possibly near the school or in a nearby bin".

Unprovoked attack on a woman walker

POLICE officers in Bridgend are appealing for witnesses to "an unprovoked attack" on a woman walking home at night on Sunday, September 14.

The 22-year-old was punched in the back of her legs and fell to the floor before the assailants tried to steal her handbag. The woman had minor injuries, but did not go to hospital.

Prior to the attack, the woman had been with colleagues in the Horseshoes, but left around 2.15am and walked into Water Street, and then on to the River walkway heading to Barnes Avenue.

One of the attackers is described as white with a spotty face, of thin build and aged about 22. He was wearing tracksuit bottoms and a pink hoody. The other male attacker is described as white, wearing tracksuit bottoms and a top with stripes on the arms.

ASSEMBLY'S £400,000 FUNDING FOR SAFER JOURNEYS TO SCHOOL

TRANSPORT Minister Edwina Hart AM has announced more than £400,000 funding for safe walking and cycling routes at two primary schools in Bridgend county borough.

The grants are part of the Safe Routes in Communities programme for 2014/15 and are in addition to the £5m funding announced earlier this year.

Porthcawl Primary School has been awarded £275,718 for a new cycleway, ramp and gate entrance, upgrading of existing footways to cycleways, cycle storage and improved safety measures on roads near the school.

Tremains Primary School receives

£173,708 for a project for a new footpath, widening of an existing footpath and cycle storage. During a visit to Porthcawl Primary School, Mrs Hart said: "I am very pleased to be able to announce this extra funding under the Safe Routes in Communities programme."

This means pupils at two more schools will now be able to benefit from safe walking and cycling routes. The Welsh Government wants to see as many pupils have the opportunity to walk or cycle safely to school to encourage physical activity and reduce reliance on the car."

Andrew Wood, Porthcawl Primary School Headteacher said: "We are delighted with the decision of the Minister to award the development funds for this Safe Routes Project. This funding is not just for the pupils of the school but incorporates important elements for the whole community."

"The impact of this decision will be immense, as it not only reinforces the work of the school in developing healthy lifestyles and a wide range of health related activities, but supports curriculum development in the key areas of literacy, numeracy and ecological awareness."

"I predict that there will be a significant increase in cycling to school as the whole development promotes safety, physical fitness and the reduction of car use."

In April, the transport minister announced £5m in funding for 30 safe routes in projects across Wales.

Porthcawl Comprehensive School

OPEN EVENING FOR YEAR 7 INTAKE IN 2015

To be held at 6.00pm Thursday 2nd October 2014

The school is proud to hold its Annual Open Evening for those parents who wish their children to attend Year 7 in September 2015.

Porthcawl is a traditional school with a proven track record of excellence for all. Examination results have been consistently above the local and national averages.

In 2013

- 100% students sitting GCSEs in Year 11 gained a qualification A*- G
- 78.9% of pupils passed 5 or more GCSEs at A*- C
- 30 students gained 8 or more GCSEs at A/A* (26 in 2012)

We organise frequent transition events to help pupils settle in; here are some of their thoughts:

"Transition has made me feel more confident!"

"The size of the Comp. has become smaller and is not so big and scary any more!"

"I've already met new friends from other primaries"

Further information can be found on the school website: www.porthcawlschool.co.uk Alternatively you may telephone 01656 774100.

Our recent Estyn inspection report was very positive and we were proud to read that:

"One of the school's strengths is the exceptional working relationship between teachers and pupils. The school has a strong ethos based on fairness and this creates a caring and disciplined environment."

"Transition work with partner primary schools is of the highest quality."

"At Key Stage 3, performance in English, Mathematics and Science has improved and overall performance is higher than modelled expectations."

"Nearly all pupils behave very well in class and around the school. They are ready to learn and participate well in lessons. They are courteous and relate well to one another, to their teachers and to other adults."

LOCAL CHOIR AWARDS TWO BOYS MUSICAL SCHOLARSHIPS!

ABOVE:

Peter Greenwood, Roy Bowen (choir chairman) and Owen Jeffries.

DILWYN EVANS a founder member of Porthcawl Male Choir, who passed away in 2003, left a substantial sum to the choir he loved dearly and had served so well.

The choir's management committee decided at that time that he should not be forgotten and a sum of money was set aside to fund what was to be known as the 'Dilwyn Evans Memorial Scholarship'.

This was to be awarded annually to a young person, living in Porthcawl who had been awarded a place in a college of higher education, in order to pursue a career in music.

This, it was felt would be a fitting tribute to Dilwyn.

This was immediately implemented and every year since then applicants are invited to apply in writing, and the one judged to be most worthy is awarded the scholarship.

The successful applicant is presented with a cheque and a certificate to mark the award. This presentation is made by the choir chairman in the presence of the choristers.

Unusually this year, it proved impossible for the judges to decide between two really first class candidates, so it was decided that a scholarship to the same value be awarded to both.

The successful candidates are Owen Jeffries, who plays saxophone, clarinet and piano and has achieved A-Levels in music, music technology and physics and is due to sit his grade 6 piano.

He has been a member of the Bridgend Youth Orchestra for the past eight years. Owen has been awarded a place at Hertfordshire University where he will study music composition.

The other successful candidate is Peter Greenwood, who plays the tuba, an instrument he has played since he was 11 years of age. He was originally auditioned at school to play the trumpet but the school brass teacher convinced him he looked more like a tuba player and it's that instrument he has played ever since.

He has received offers from The Royal Northern College of Music and the Guildhall School of Music and Drama, but has accepted a place at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) in Cardiff.

His ambition is to become a professional orchestral musician.

These two extremely talented young men were presented with their awards by choir chairman Roy Bowen, who congratulated them both and wished them well in their chosen careers.

Credit must go to the musical staff of Porthcawl Comprehensive School, who provided both Owen and Peter with a high standard of musical education. We, in Porthcawl Male choir, are proud to play our own small part in offering encouragement to these young people through this award while preserving the memory of Dilwyn through this award.

'Say yes to a clean Cornelly' – and scoop up the poop!

A NEW scheme, 'Yes to a clean Cornelly' was launched recently for North and South Cornelly, Kenfig and Maudlam, supported by Madeleine Moon MP.

The scheme raises awareness of dog owners of their responsibility to clean up after their pets.

"We have started the scheme in response to complaints from local residents about the mess being left, particularly in residential areas," said Denise Roberts, secretary, Cornelly Labour Party.

'Bag it, bin it HERE' stickers, supplied by Bridgend County Borough Council, have been placed on lamp post bins, as many dog owners may not be aware that the collected poop can be placed in ANY council bin, not just the specific dog bins.

This should make disposing of it much easier for those walking their dogs around out streets.

The MP said: "I was impressed by the response from local residents who were frustrated by the failure of a small number of dog owners to clean up after their dogs."

"The mess along the footpaths made it especially difficult for parents with push chairs and those in wheel chairs. This is an important campaign and one I was pleased to support."

Leaflets are being distributed in the target areas to remind dog owners of their responsibilities and to encourage residents to report problems.

Anyone who allows their dog to foul in a public space without cleaning it up risks an instant fine of £100 and if they are prosecuted, they could face a possible maximum fine of £1,000.

"We know that the majority of dog owners are responsible and clean up after their pets, but there is still a small minority who think the law does not apply to them. This is a major concern to many people."

"Dog fouling not only blights our community due the mess, but it can be harmful to health. We have to tackle it by getting people to pick up after their pets and dispose of the waste properly," said Richard Granville, chair, Cornelly Labour Party.

St Mary

A FEW days ago, I made my way to the area where the St Mary Hill commemorative plaque is situated.

I became concerned, as there is a very deep trench in close proximity to the plaque, which depicts the history of the St Mary Hill horse fair that originated in the 15th century and became the principal horse fair in Wales until the mid-1950s.

There are many people still in the area who enjoyed the fun, including myself. Alas, those days are gone forever. The plaque was financed by the late Mr Bernard Battrick.

Jane James of Jade Boutique is hoping people will join her for a fundraiser for Layla-mae on October 15.

'OUR BIG MIRACLE IN A LITTLE GIRL' Jade Boutique is holding fundraiser for brave Layla-mae

A special fundraising event is being held for six-year-old Layla-mae Cummings, who had a brain tumour removed last week at Great Ormond Street Hospital.

Layla-mae is the daughter of Claire and Gareth Cummings and the granddaughter of Bob Armstrong of Dr Bob Balloons Unlimited in High Street, Barry.

Jane James of Jade Boutique in the town, who is a friend of the family, said: "We're holding a charity fashion evening at Scarlet's Wine Bar, Barry, on Wednesday, October 15 at 7.30pm.

"It is a chance to see our autumn ranges and raise funds for a worthy cause."

Layla-mae underwent an operation to remove the tumour last

BY GEM REPORTER

Thursday. Mum and dad, Claire and Gareth, said: "Layla-mae came out of surgery and had a very trying time. She seized 24 times and had problems with her eyes. She remained in recovery for three hours.

"They carried out an emergency CT scan, but there was only a small bleed and the surgeons were happy. Layla-mae was moved to high dependency. She woke well, spoke, smiled and tried water and nibbled on food. We were so very proud.

"She is now out of high dependency and all drips have been removed. She was incredibly brave every step of the way, both post-op and pre-op.

"She is now in an isolation room. She is still suffering with her eyes, shakes and has numerous seizures; she is feeling quite sick and has a lot of pain and is generally very tired.

"However, she is with us and doing so well, considering what could have been. She still has her fantastic growl and sense of humour!

"The journey will continue for Layla-mae as it is still very early days. We will come back to Great Ormond Street Hospital in six weeks for results and it will take at least six months for a true picture of her progress.

"She is our trooper – as we say our 'big miracle in a little girl'."

Tickets for the fundraiser are £10 and are available at Jade Boutique and Scarlet's and include 'nibbles'.

Intrepid WRAFs celebrate 75th anniversary with novel charity relay!

WRAFs on tour is a group of around 600 former WRAFs and currently serving female personnel who are completing a UK wide charity relay – walking, cycling, running or using any other mode of transport.

One lady is even planning to walk over the Severn Bridge on crutches in a bid to raise money for Macmillan Cancer Support and RAFA (Royal Air Force Association).

A spokeswoman at MoD St

Athan explained: "They hope this will really capture the imagination and support of as many people as possible. The idea was first suggested around a year ago and now women of all ages (including several ladies over 70) are taking part, some on horseback!

"This is an important year, in terms of anniversaries, for women in the Royal Air Force – it will be 75 years since WAAF was formed; 65 years since the name changed to WRAF and 20 years since the 'W' officially disappeared under the complete merge with the RAF.

"It is also 100 years since the start of World War One; an important anniversary for all members of the armed forces. The ladies are hoping to finish the relay at the National Arboretum where they will lay a floral tribute," she concluded.

The ladies will be setting off from MoD St Athan at 10am on Thursday, October 2. If you would like to join them for coffee and give them a St Athan send off, contact the MCO at MoD St Athan, Mrs Jane Bissett on 07736 340024.

Ramblers pay tribute to Zulu the donkey...

ELEVEN Penarth and District Ramblers, including leader Geraint, gathered at St John's well in the 12th century village of Newton to follow an ancient inland route connecting three fresh water wells – the other two, Ffynnon Fawr and Ffynnon Dewi, being situated in the nearby Saxon settlement of Nottag.

Tramping quiet lanes, fields and tracks to reach the statueque and mysterious Sker House and joining the Wales Coast Path, they paused for lunch in warm autumnal sunshine in part of Rest Bay before continuing across Lock's Common to reach Porthcawl.

Making their way along the seafrost before scooping refreshing cool ices at Coney Beach, a short trek across Sandy and Trecco Bays brought them back to their start.

Eleven walkers including organiser and leader William set out to enjoy a two-day walking adventure from Porlock in the Exmoor National Park, beginning with a trip to Dunkery Beacon, the highest point on Exmoor. Special thanks go to Josie for baking two delicious cakes that provided a boost to the group's energy levels.

Making their way to Horner and then Webber's Post before climbing steadily through gorse and over moorland to reach the cairn on Dunkery Hill, the rewards were wonderful views which stretched before them during their lunch break.

Then a pause on their journey at the isolated Stoke Pero church to learn an interesting fact that during renovations a donkey named Zulu earned his own notoriety by hauling heavy timber on a cart up from Porlock twice a day.

Tramping up and downhill – they went through pretty woodland at the Doverhay Plantation and arrived back in Porlock.

Setting out eagerly from Porlock on day two towards the delightful Bossington Beach and joining part of the long distance south west coastal path to Hurlstone Point, a climb led up to the old coastguard shelter, where eyes strained through the mist directly across the Bristol Channel towards the Glamorgan coastline, in order to pick out landmarks on home soil at Nash and Aberthaw.

Following a challenging climb to Selworthy Beacon and lunch in warm sunshine while watching a peregrine falcon hunting along the cliffs, they journeyed on to North Hill and through woodland and ancient tracks to reach the picturesque National Trust thatched cottage village of Selworthy for afternoon tea at Periwinkle Cottage.

Strolling on to the old stone river bridge at the village of Allerford, then on past farms to West Lynch Woods and the old mill, homemade chutneys and jams were quickly snapped up! Their return was via Bossington and across the marshes.

On September 27, meet at 9am at Cogan Leisure Centre for a 9-mile hard walk in the Abercarn area; contact Rachel on 01446 410545.

On September 28, meet at 9am at Cogan for an 11-mile strenuous walk up the big four, Fan y Big, Cribyn, Pen y Fan and Corn Du; contact Robin on 029 2051 4051.

Ambulance chief stepping down from his Welsh role

IT has been announced that Elwyn Price-Morris is stepping down as Chief Executive of the Welsh Ambulance Services NHS Trust on September 30.

The Trust Board has also announced that Tracy Myhill will succeed him on an interim basis "pending the recruitment and selection of a substantive replacement".

She is currently deputy Chief Executive of Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, and will take up the post on October 1 for a period of 12 - 18 months.

A spokesperson said: "Elwyn has been suffering with serious health problems for the past six months. Although he has continued to work until recently, he has now accepted medical advice that he needs to take time away from the workplace in order that the situation can be properly assessed and that the necessary steps can be taken to improve his health.

"Elwyn has held discussions with the chairman of the Trust and they have reached a mutual decision that in his own interest and the interests of the service, he will not be returning to the Chief Executive's post once his health issues are resolved.

"This will enable the Trust to bring in new leadership at a critical time in the organisation's development and allow Elwyn to seek out new opportunities to utilise his extensive experience of the Welsh public sector."

Mick Giannasi, Trust Chairman, added that:

"Elwyn has led the Trust very ably for the last four years and has made a significant contribution to the development of the organisation.

"While there are still significant challenges to be addressed, not least the need to improve current levels of performance, he leaves the organisation in a stronger position than when he took it over.

"I wish him every success in what he ultimately decides to do in the future, but for now, resolving his health issues has to be his number one priority."

Tracy Myhill said: "I feel privileged to have the opportunity to lead the Trust at this time and look forward to building on the progress made by Elwyn, the team and staff at the organisation. The Welsh Ambulance Service is a vital and highly valued service for the people of Wales.

"I look forward to working with others on the challenges needing to be addressed, so that the service we provide is highly regarded by all."

'HAVEN OF TREES' UNIT IS AIMING TO DESTIGMATISE MENTAL HEALTH ISSUES

THE new £88m mental health unit for adults at University Hospital Llandough has been named 'Hafan y Coed' (Haven of Trees) in an effort to destigmatise mental health issues.

The modern, purpose-built 135-bed inpatient facility will bring together existing adult and specialist services provided at Whitchurch Hospital and the Llanfair Unit, under one roof.

At a recent Cardiff and Vale University Health Board meeting, a report was submitted to the board, following consultation with patients and staff.

Clinical project lead Simone Jocelyn, who wrote the report, said:

"The unit is expected to meet the aspirations and hopes of service users and they have expressed a wish that the building needs to exhibit a change in perspective of mental health issues and services.

"The space needs to express openness, safety, caring and recovery.

"Many people's lives are enhanced by nature and this theme should be able to meet that need and provide a talking point within the unit.

"The unit utilised gardens, outside areas and art to offer warmth and inspiration to the user's experience.

"Through nature, we can express and engulf ourselves, and engage with other people in ways that other forms of communication do not offer.

"Leaves and trees are positive imagery. Tree names are being utilised to name the wards, promoting associations with the natural environment and the seasons, and provide a connection with natural processes and a stress-free environment.

"Nature, as a theme for the unit and ward names, would assist a comprehensive approach to the building."

Construction is expected to be completed in January 2016.

Keep Wales Tidy awards

KEEP Wales Tidy is again calling on volunteer groups, schools and organisations to put their names forward for the Tidy Wales cash prize? Could this be the year and the chance to win a £250 cash prize?

EyePAT's Big Lottery award to run Happy Kids Don't Bully assemblies

EyePAT CIC in the Vale has been awarded a grant from the Big Lottery Fund to run its successful Happy Kids Don't Bully Workshops in 15 schools in Rhondda Cynon Taff, Neath Port Talbot, Torfaen and Gwent.

"The reason chronic bullying is taking place is because the 'Bully' is displaying a coping behaviour to try and deal with their own insecurities, fears and issues. EyePAT's Happy Kids Don't Bully People's programme works, as it gets to the root cause of the problem," Penny Steinhauer, EyePAT's Training Director explained.

"There are basically four different types of bully. Accidental, Opportunistic, Health Issues and Chronic. Happy Kids Don't Bully are designed specifically to work with the Chronic Bully, the malicious bully."

The concept behind these workshops was developed initially with Bridgend Restorative Justice Team for a conference for Mental Health Matters Wales. The EyePAT workshops were officially launched in July 2013 at the Senedd and were sponsored by Jane Hutt, AM for the Vale.

EyePAT run the workshops in schools under the title Happy

Kids Don't Bully, and in the workplace as Happy People Don't Bully.

Vale-based Penny is looking forward to speaking at the Cardiff Against Bullying's Young People's Conference, in Cardiff City Stadium on October 23.

Homeless puppy 'pawpers' are looking for love!

DOGS TRUST Bridgend is appealing for a loving home for two special residents: adorable 12-week-old lurcher pups, Isaac and Inca, didn't have the best start in life which began before their mother Isla came to the Rehoming Centre.

Isaac and Inca.

Isla endured a horrific ordeal living as a stray on the streets of Bridgend. She managed to survive on scraps from local shopkeepers for months, before she was attacked by youths, who threw sticks and stones at her until she collapsed.

Amazingly, not only did Isla survive the ordeal, but when a kind passerby rushed her to a local vet for treatment, it was discovered that she was also heavily pregnant. Miraculously, a few weeks later she even gave birth to eight healthy puppies, including Inca and Isaac.

She was then passed to Dogs Trust Bridgend and fortunately the plucky pooch soon recovered after plenty of TLC from her carers at the Rehoming Centre. Not only has she found the loving new family she deserves but has also seen six of her eight puppies find loving homes of their own.

The icing on the cake would be for her last two pups to also find their forever homes.

Dogs Trust Bridgend Supporter Relations Officer, Linda Feagan explains "Inca and Isaac are affectionate, fun loving puppies looking for loving, patient owners who have the time to commit to training young puppies and helping them settle in."

Both can live with other compatible dogs and children as young as eight. They are fantastic dogs who will make super pets in the right homes.

"We were delighted to see Isla find the wonderful happy ending which she deserves and it would just be perfect for this little family to see them all find happy homes of their own. Sadly, Isla witnessed the worst of humanity when she was forced to live on the streets, so we are desperate that her pups will only know the very best, in loving homes for life."

Anyone interested in offering the puppies - or other dogs at the centre - a new home, should call Dogs Trust Bridgend on 01656 725 219, or visit www.dogstrust.org.uk

First Minister demands a 'Constitutional Convention' following vote in Scotland

FOLLOWING the result of the referendum on independence in Scotland – won by the 'No' vote – the focus has turned to constitutional reform and how a fair funding settlement for the constituent parts of the United Kingdom can be achieved.

Wales' concerns are the £300m a year funding gap in the Barnett Formula that favours Scotland and Northern Ireland – and whether more powers will be devolved to the Welsh Government.

UK politicians have indicated that there will be no change in the Barnett Formula, and in England there have been calls for Scottish MPs to lose their right to vote on laws affecting English people.

Welsh politicians are anxious that their voice is heard as the debate over the future government of the UK gains momentum.

The First Minister, Carwyn Jones, who is the AM for Bridgend, welcomed the Scottish 'No' vote which he said was in the interests of the different parts of the United Kingdom.

But in a press conference he insisted the UK's constitutional arrangements had to be properly examined.

"I have long called for a constitutional convention – for more than two years now. That would draw up a future settlement which reflects the aspirations of the UK's constituent parts."

He went on: "Wales' under funding needs to be addressed. We are under funded to the tune of £300 per year. That's money that could be spent on our NHS and on education in Wales.

Welsh Conservative Leader Andrew RT Davies AM, who lives in the Vale, said: "Welsh Conservatives remain open-minded about the future of devolution for Wales and other parts of the UK, but change must be driven by the people.

"Any changes to the constitutional settlement must be focused on improving the lives of the people of Wales – and not playing to politicians' egos."

The general election is just seven months away – May 7, 2015 – and constitutional experts have warned politicians that changes made in haste could be damaging in the long term.

An evening with Sir Roger quite delightful!

THEY say that your favourite James Bond is the one that you first see on the screen – and for me that was Roger Moore.

While in later life I would learn that Moore's take on 007 was away from the character Ian Fleming had created on the page, his films and performance as Bond left an indelible mark upon me.

With that in mind, it was with great delight I attended An Evening with Sir Roger Moore at St David's Hall, Cardiff, where he would talk at length about his life in the film world and more besides.

Having read his autobiography, My Word is My Bond, and devoured the tales of the golden age of cinema and his life as 007, I was looking forward to seeing Sir Roger in the flesh and hearing at first hand his tales – and he certainly didn't disappoint.

With his biographer Gareth Owen coaxing and leading him, Moore's recounting of a life which began an incredible 86 years ago (and with Moore having last performed in Cardiff in 1949 in the New Theatre) was delivered with warmth, wit and self-deprecation.

The first half of the show saw Moore talk about his time as contract player with MGM and Warner Bros (both of whom saw fit to 'fire' him, as he jokingly pointed out several times), then onto his work on television with The Saint and The Persuaders, with the second half given over to a question and answer session with the audience, which was equal parts cringeable and amusing (the former certainly not because of Moore), and a look back at his time as James Bond.

What was most apparent was Moore's gratitude and a humility that he was able to work with such great actors and directors, and while his subtle mockery of his own talents was humorous, modesty obviously prevented him from blowing his horn too often (and, yes, that line was delivered with a Moore-esque arched eyebrow).

An incredible evening of listening to a seasoned raconteur deliver some great stories, was concluded with a touching tale of how, through Audrey Hepburn, he became involved in UNICEF, capping what was a superbly entertaining evening with a true legend.

Steve takes sporting chance to join choir!

Steve (right) with Gareth and Dorothy.

STEPHEN JAMES, the most recent recruit to the Barry Male Voice Choir was warmly welcomed by choir chairman Gareth Roberts and musical director Dorothy Connell at a recent rehearsal.

Stephen, a long standing local sportsman, said: "I'm delighted to become a member of the choir. In the short time that I've been attending rehearsals, I've been made to feel very welcome and already feel part of a new team."

Chairman Gareth Roberts commented: "Stephen is the first of what we hope will be a number of new members. The choir is planning a recruitment campaign for November."

"This will give any interested men a chance to be gently introduced into choral singing in informal surroundings. Further details will soon be available. The only requirement is being interested in and wanting to sing!"

Big transformation on the way at Crossway Methodist Church

CROSSWAY Methodist Church has mounted a new cross on the outside of the building.

The Rev Peter Taylor told The GEM: "We now have a great new replacement cross on the Court Road side. It was made by Barrie Lockyer, a gentleman who attend our 'Open Door' mid week group run by the church community."

"The cross and a time capsule – stored in the building – were dedicated as part of the morning worship on September. There will be interior changes too."

The Rev Taylor explained: "As a Church, we are planning some small but significant changes to our interior. "This 'space' project is all about creating a more flexible space for the church and community groups."

"We are having a new sanctuary platform area built with a demountable communion rail by Salevon, a Barry firm, and we are removing some pews."

"There will be new carpeting as well as some planned enhancements to the audio and visual system."

"We will also have some new chairs, some in the church space and the majority for the hall. The work will take place during October.

"All of this will of course mean some serious expenditure for the church. We are grateful to the VOG Council Welsh Churches Act Trust and the Vale Methodist Circuit and Wales Synod for their generous support."

"The church is planning some fund raising in the coming months and year."

"On Saturday, September 27 from 2pm-4pm, Crossway Methodist Church is holding a 'Gift Day'."

"It is an opportunity to give thanks to God for our church and to help in our mission, ministry and community outreach now and in the coming years."

"All gifts received will be used towards the fund raising for the 'Church Physical and Spiritual Space' project."

"Refreshments will be available. Feel free to sit in prayer and quiet in the church. Stay for as little or long as you can."

"There will be the opportunity to donate towards this project at the Sunday morning service (September 28) at 11am if you cannot get along."

"Look out for more fundraising events, such as a quiz night and concerts in the coming months!"

Some pews are to be sold to raise funds.

For more information on how to support the church, the Rev Taylor can be contacted on 01446 406262.

Scherfig's Riot Club a dark and dangerous place...

DIRECTOR Lone Scherfig may be Danish, but she seems to have a fascination with the lives of the upwardly mobile denizens of England.

Her breakthrough film, An Education, captured the life of an impressionable young woman in 1960s England wonderfully well, while her adaptation of David Nicholls' One Day was a romantic comedy/drama for the middle classes.

Her latest film, The Riot Club, is based on the play Posh by Laura Wade (who also writes the screenplay here), and is a fictionalised version of the infamous Bullingdon Club which once counted among its number David Cameron and Boris Johnson.

Here we follow Miles (Max Irons) and Alistair (Sam Claflin), two first year students determined to join the infamous Riot Club, where reputations can be made or destroyed over the course of a single evening.

However, the reality of the club soon hits home and loyalty is tested by a chain of events...

Adapting a play for the big screen can be fraught with dangers, particularly one that sees the play's writer doing the adapting, as the tendency to make the film look like a staged performance rather than a film is always high.

It's a trap that The Riot Club falls into, and while it makes for an entertaining watch, slowly twisting the tension and drama, it feels a little soft-soaked in its aims and can't quite shake off its origins.

Lone Scherfig isn't a supreme visualist as a director, more one who is capable of using the camera to subtly tease out performance and drive the narrative along; and while there's no question that she does that, there are very few moments where the film feels propelled by any great deal of kinetic energy.

Instead, it feels a

little staid, reminiscent of a TV drama rather than a film, with only the climactic meal really hooking you.

Scherfig's CV makes her a good choice of director for material of this ilk, and aside from the visual shortcomings, she does a good job of holding the story together and taking a magnifying glass to the upper classes, whose sense of entitlement and status are the fuel that the film fires on.

Wade's screenplay doesn't put Scherfig on the front foot by any means, as what feels like a posh, Oxford-set episode of The Inbetweeners plays broad comedy, before descending into the dark recesses – as feelings, emotions and resentments bubble towards the surface.

But while the opening is offensively humorous (why valet your expensive car when you can just buy a new one and donate the old one to a charity shop?), it doesn't develop your characters enough for the dramatic denouement.

The time when you really need to be invested in the characters you'll be struggling to remember their names.

That isn't to say the performances are bad. Max Irons (son of Jeremy and Sinead Cusack) offers us proles a turn as a posh boy with an empathy for the working classes, and delivers a decent performance, discovering that once you enter the rabbit hole of the club, you'll struggle to get out.

Sam Claflin as the pent-up Alistair seethes with issues of being in the shadow of his older brother (a Riot Club 'legend'), whose anger manifests itself in a horrifying way.

The rest of the cast are all fine, but being given little to do, you will find yourself held in by these two performances and faintly remembering the rest, who do hold up the weight when action switches to the club's annual meal in a countryside gastro pub, the ramifications of which lead to a conclusion that feels undercooked.

It's an accusation that can be levelled at Wade and, to a degree, Scherfig; ultimately, the message of the film is that money, status and power are unquenchable and all-powerful, and those with it have scant concern for those without ("You're no better than kids smashing shop windows," says the landlord of the aforementioned pub when things get out of control). But if it's trying for satire, it only really raises the 'ire' part, the students' behaviour ranging from funny to downright disgusting; the satire, though, doesn't hit the target.

The Riot Club still makes for a decent night's watch, the story ebbing and flowing, and delivers some intrigue as events play out, but while thematically interesting, the execution doesn't quite pay off.

VERDICT: An intriguing film, The Riot Club is from her own play, aims high, but a lack of bite and inability to really satirise these characters means that you go along for a ride that slowly turns darker and more destructive. Enjoyable.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: The History Boys (2006), Doubt (2008).

Bingo back with a bang!

FOLLOWING on the holidays, the first session of the Royal British Legion autumn series bingo in Cowbridge was a great success.

All the regulars were there and a few more recruits... Some said that after burning themselves on a sun-soaked foreign beach, it was a great relief to be back to the stimulating, intellectual pursuit of bingo!

I was threatened not to mention HH's forthcoming birthday, otherwise there would be serious consequences – so I haven't!

It would be ungallant to mention her age, but it had a nought in it and it was not 10.

Well, why not join us for the next session on Thursday, October 2 at the Lesser Hall of Cowbridge Town Hall? Doors open at 7pm; eyes down 7.30 promptly.

Apart from cash prizes for bingo, there will be valuable prizes for the raffle, the first one being a valuable voucher from a local

Appeal for witnesses after a street assault in Barry

BARRY police are appealing for witnesses 18 – 23 years of age. The victim went to an assault in the town at around 11.50pm on Friday, August 8, when a 36-year-old man was walking along Broad Street towards the old cinema. He noticed two men who started shouting at the victim and then began punching him several times to the head. They are described as being University Hospital Wales for treatment to injuries which included bruising to both eyes.

Live a life of adventure WITH MARIA LEIJERSTAM

Double world record holder Maria Leijerstam from the Vale, founder of the Burn Series of multisport events and qualified personal trainer, inspires you with a weekly column on simple family sporting adventures in the beautiful countryside of south Wales.

DID you know that nutrition in sport is just as important as the training itself? Many people come to me just prior to an event they are due to take part in and ask why they are feeling tired or unwell or why parts of their body are aching.

The first thing I say is that you need to think of your body as a machine so that what you put in, you get out.

If you fill yourself with 'empty calorie' foods which are high in calories from saturated fat and sugar, but very low in vital nutritional ingredients, for example, foods such as chips, chocolate and biscuits, it won't take long for your body to begin to complain. I always advise to try and replace these items with nutritional foods, the best ones being those of a single ingredient that have not been processed in any way.

We need also to remember that our bodies are highly intelligent machines and unlike mechanical machines, which are predictable, our bodies are not because they go through a process of adaptation based on what we do.

This is what makes the human body so incredible.

Oscar Wilde's saying of 'everything in moderation, including moderation' can't be closer to the truth.

Sometimes we need to trick our bodies as the adaptation process slows down and our intelligent bodies know what we are up to.

Given all of this, the simple message of living a life of activity and adventure is to fuel, rest and reward ourselves. Many people over train and simply need to rest and some people are not balancing the vital energy sources going into the body with what is being used up.

Next time you head out on a sporting adventure, make sure the night before and in the morning you fuel yourself with nutritional foods of the correct quantity for what you're about to do. Once you've completed your activity you need to rest and help your body to repair with protein based foods. Once this is all done, make sure you don't forget a reward.

It's not too late to set yourselves a family challenge, sign up at www.burnseries.co.uk

Last chance to vote for your favourite park

RESIDENTS in the Vale are being urged to cast their vote for the annual People's Choice Award to decide which of the 1,482 Green Flag Award parks should be named the UK's Park of the Year.

The Vale was awarded five Green Flag awards in 2014. Belle Vue Park in Penarth and Victoria Park in Barry retained their green flag status from last year, and there were new awards for both Romilly Park and Central Park in Barry, as well as Alexandra Park and Windsor Gardens in Penarth.

Now all five are in the running to be named the UK's favourite park.

To vote, visit www.greenflagaward.org, select your country or region on the interactive map, find your favourite park or green space, and click the 'vote for this site' button.

You can also vote at www.valeofglamorgan.gov.uk under 'green flag award'.

The vote will close at 12pm on September 30 and the winner of the 2014 People's Choice will be announced on October 16.

Butlins camp remembered

A BLUE plaque will be unveiled by the Mayor of the Vale, Coun Howard Hamilton, on September 27 in the new seafront garden on Barry Island, part of the £3m refurbishment of the coastline round Nell's Point.

The plaque, paid for by private subscription, commemorates the Butlins holiday camp that occupied the whole site from 1966-1986 and its operator, the showman and philanthropist, Sir William 'Billy' Butlin.

POLICE BIKE MARKING WAS A 'GREAT SUCCESS'

A RECENT bike marking event in Penarth, hosted jointly by South Wales Police and British Transport Police, was "a great success."

Residents and cyclists alike made the most of the free bike marking scheme with 58 bikes being marked along with three scooters. Additionally, laptops, mobile phones and tablets were also security marked for local residents.

While the bikes were being marked, security tips were given to cyclists by PCSO Gareth Parry from South Wales Police in a bid to reduce and prevent cycle theft in the area. Additional advice was given by PC Ceri Frost from British Transport Police on the safety of passenger property while travelling on trains.

PCSO Gareth Parry said: "We are delighted with the response from the community, who made the most of the security advice available and the bike marking."

"This was an opportunity for residents to meet with their local Police Community Support Officers in an informal setting and it was a great success".

Christmas Party Guide

The pleasures of country dining can enhance your Christmas party

THERE is a lot to be said for planning an office Christmas party – or a family one – as a real outing, and this really brings into focus the many virtues of the Vale.

So many venues – be they country pubs, hotels or establishments in small villages – are now tuned into welcoming parties, and they have become skilled at meeting all requirements.

Hiring a mini-van or coach can be part of the build-up to the evening, and can increase the 'buzz' and camaraderie, getting everyone relaxed and in a party mood before you set foot in the venue.

It also, to state the obvious, takes care of the drink/drive problem!

So much has changed over the years when it comes to dining.

Time was when each establishment had its own, very predictable style of cuisine.

Country pubs would serve up something home-cooked, wholesome and traditional.

If part of a chain, you would be in prawn cocktail, steak and black forest gateau territory.

For good Italian food, go to an Italian. Ditto for Indian, French or Spanish. It was one style of food per establishment, resulting in endless arguments over how to choose where to eat.

Nowadays, menus can be put together that have an excellent chance of satisfying the varied tastes of any random group of diners-out.

As customers have become more discerning – and this may well be due to all the Masterchef-style programmes on TV – so local chefs have responded.

Last year, on a short walking holiday in Italy, I found myself attached to a group of French walkers.

Christmas parties – in the country!

(Continued from facing page). It was noticeable that every evening, they would collar the chef and quiz him or her on what they would be serving and how it would be prepared.

All three courses would be discussed, including the dessert. After the meal, the chef would be invited out for a question and answer session.

The only thing missing was marks out of 10 a la Strictly.

High expectations such as these go some way to explaining why food in France and Italy is so good.

It's really encouraging to note that we are moving in the same direction in this country, and discerning Vale diners can definitely look forward to enjoying the result!

GEM columnist Maria scoops business award

ABOVE:

WORLD record holding adventurer and Vale businesswoman, Maria Leijerstam, has been recognised for her contribution to Welsh Business & Society at the South Wales Business Awards 2014.

On September 12, Maria, who writes a column for The GEM, was recognised with the honorary award, for her outstanding world record achievement of solo cycling from the edge of the Antarctic continent to the South Pole.

Maria is also equally adept in the business world with her own business Multisport Wales.

She commented: "It was wonderful to be part of the South Wales Business Awards 2014 and to see so many successful businesses."

Companies run by young entrepreneurs that have reached £1m turnover in south Wales is no longer unheard of; it is now becoming the norm.

The awards ceremony was an astute and admirable way of recognizing those who have worked tirelessly in achieving their goals that in turn has contributed to strengthening the south Wales economy."

Maria was presented with her award by Welsh Office Minister – Alun Cairns, MP for the Vale.

"Each company collecting accolades at these awards started as an idea, so it is great to see the hard work being rewarded."

"I was particularly pleased to present an award to Vale local Maria Leijerstam, who has achieved so much in so many fields," Mr Cairns said.

Local man's leading role at prestigious world golf congress

PROUD dad Derek Smith, Cottrell Park's general manager, reports that son Adam took a leading role at a prestigious golfing event in Australia.

On September 7, Adam presented his research at Golf Science: A World Scientific Congress of Golf on the Gold Coast.

The prestigious event is held every two years but this was the first time it has been held outside of St Andrews or Phoenix.

It attracts the world's leading experts in golf research, strength and conditioning, biomechanics, golf health and coaching, who come together to discuss all aspects of golf science.

"There is extremely strong competition to have a paper accepted for such a recognised event, so to be asked to complete a podium presentation on his research was an incredible achievement for Adam," Mr Smith said.

Adam's presentation to delegates from around the world was on 'The Impact of Warm-Up Routines on Golf Performance – Pulse Raiser v Non Pulse Raiser'.

This was very well received, with numerous delegates showing an interest in Adam's research completed at Myerscough College – where, of course, he plays golf!

Adam is now looking to continue his research on warm-up routines, particularly with the over-50s.

SIAN HAS A HAIRCUT FOR LITTLE PRINCESS!

Back before...

...Front after.

Sian's story
"I HAD been thinking about having my hair cut since the end of April, but it was only recently that I decided to take the plunge and do it, especially with the return to university looming!"

"Having long hair for the past six years, I was fed up and needed a change. I had heard about a charity that uses real hair for wigs and decided to do a little research. What I found was so heartwarming I had my mind made up."

"The charity Little Princess Trust provides specialist wigs for free to children who have undergone chemotherapy, and as a consequence, have lost their hair. They require a length of seven inches, which I was more than able to provide."

"I made my appointment at The Hair Business in Cowbridge and explained to my stylist, Janine, what I would like to do. She plaited the hair in three sections so it would not get tangled in post to the charity, and got the scissors out."

"The end result was neat and tidy (I highly recommend going there!).

"If anybody can spare the hair, please consider this charity, as a child-size wig can cost up to £2,000!"

"Along with the hair donation, I have also set up a JustGiving page (<https://www.justgiving.com/Sian-Hardy/>) to raise 10 per cent of the £2,000 and have raised £143 in 5 days!"

"Please help me make the £200 by texting SLPT82 and the amount you are willing to donate (£1/£2/£3/£4/£5/£10) to 70070. Any amount will help!"

Sian Hardy, Barry

Scout and Guides in Roman Ramble

TO commemorate 25 years of Scout/Guide involvement in the Llandough Hospital Project, on a lovely, sunny Sunday, September 21, the second 'Ramble' took place – starting near the Roman fort ruins on Cold Knap.

A total of 150 Scouting/Guiding personnel took part, from Barry, the Vale, Penarth and Cardiff. The object of the exercise was to encourage walking and healthy eating (apples and oranges were supplied by one of the sponsors).

The ramble involved Porthkerry Park, Barry Castle, the Gorsedd Stones, and on to the Island visiting Barry At War, the Coast Guard station, the Coast Watch look-out, Whitmore Bay Surf and Lifesaving Club and Watch Tower Bay.

On completion of the circuit, everyone was awarded a Roman phallera (campaign medal).

The winners were:

first – 1st Penmark Cubs (Super Explosives) 36 pts; second, Barry Brownies 36 pts; third, 2nd/4th Barry Scouts (Cracknell) 51 pts; and fourth, Dinas Powys Guides 45 pts.

Special thanks go to all the people who voluntarily opened and manned their premises for this occasion and gave a lot of their time and patience to entertain the youngsters. Also thanks to the many businesses and organisations who supported and sponsored this community effort.

The success was measured by the number of entrants who are looking forward to a similar event next year.

Unlike last year's event, this year the participants were to seek sponsorship and when all the money is collected, the presentation of trophies will be arranged.

The two charities that are to benefit from the sponsorship are the Breast Cancer Unit at Llandough Hospital and Friends of the Heritage Coast.

Jack Hardman, Community Liaison.

Y FRO GYMRAEG - YN FFW AC YN FFYNNU A WELCOME FOR EVERYONE IN WELSH MEDIUM EDUCATION

Novel approach delivers affordable permanent capacity for fast-growing new primary school

AN imaginative approach to building design has allowed a new Welsh-medium primary school in Barry to leap-frog over the limitations of temporary structures and be fast-tracked to the forefront of modern educational environments.

From the start of this term, pupils at Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg are benefiting from the latest in classroom layout and hi-tech learning equipment, and have gained enough permanent space to grow to its full potential in pupil numbers by 2017.

The transformation has been made possible by an investment of £2.7million from the Welsh Government's 21st Century Schools programme and the Vale of Glamorgan Council.

Originally Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg, which opened in September 2011 to meet rising local demand for Welsh medium education, faced the prospect of piecemeal growth through the addition of demountable classrooms as pupil numbers grew year by year.

However, this was averted by a decision of the local authority to use a standardised template school design and thereby reducing professional fees and other ancillary costs.

This is providing a new permanent structure on the same site with nursery accommodation, seven classrooms and state-of-the-art facilities for only £310,000 more than the cost of acquiring the extra pre-fabricated structures that would have been needed.

The school, which lies within the grounds of Welsh medium comprehensive Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg, had experienced faster than expected growth in demand for places. With 30 more children as of this term, and the addition of a Year Three, more space was needed urgently.

Jane Wade the council's Operations Manager for Property and Delivery explained: "We were going to have another temporary solution but I happened to read something about how schools were starting to use template designs. This made us look at a different form of delivery and we were able to have a permanent solution for much the same price as the temporary solution. It not only saved money but also allowed for a reduced programme. I believe this is the first of its kind in Wales."

The construction itself was turned into a learning experience for the children with low level 'windows' cut in the building site so they could see what was going on. The youngsters were also introduced to Ivor Goodsite or Ifor Saffle Saff, a character who promoted vital messages about construction site safety. The children also worked with community artist Christian Ryan to create special windows for the new school.

Mrs Roberts paid tribute to the contribution of her 13 staff, comprising five teachers and eight teaching assistants: "They have been very supportive throughout and have done an excellent job in challenging conditions. It's fantastic that we now have a brand new purpose built school with room to grow."

Winning ways at Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg!

Fun at Gwersyll yr Udd Llangrannog for Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg.

ALTHOUGH still a comparatively new school - opened at the turn of the century - Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg in Barry has already established itself as one of the best comprehensives in Wales.

It featured in the top ten of Welsh secondary schools (4th place overall) and was ranked 1st in the 'Teaching' category in the Western Mail's Real Schools Guide 2014, published on August 2.

This year's A-Level and GCSE results have continued the school's winning ways.

A-Level pupils succeeded in turning in a 100% pass rate for the second year in succession, with each pupil attaining an E grade or above in two or more A Level subjects.

77% of all entries were graded at A*-C. Leading the way this year were the historians. One third of the cohort studied History and 100% of the pupils achieved a C grade or above in the subject. Quite an achievement for the department.

On the GCSE front, the results were outstanding, building on the success of last year's cohort with 96% of the pupils attaining 5 A*-C in GCSE or equivalent qualifications. Most notably, a fantastic 20% of the cohort (15 girls and 12 boys) achieved five or more A*/A grades which included Maths and English or Welsh.

Headteacher Dr Dylan Jones commented: "The school celebrated yet another set of excellent examination results this year and saw pupils across the ability range achieving their goals, reflecting their dedication to their studies."

"I am extremely proud of the achievements of all our pupils and delighted that as a school we continue to cater for and nurture each individual. Particular praise is due this year for the numerous pupils who achieved Distinction * in Business Studies and Music Performance BTEC courses.

Congratulations to all the pupils and staff and we wish all our pupils well in the future. Well done!"

Mae'n rhaid cyfeirio yn benodol at lwyddiant nifer fawr o ddisgyblion yn ennill graddau Anrhyddedd * mewn cyrsiau BTEC Busnes a Pherfformio Cerdoriaeth. Mae'r Fagloriaeth hefyd yn parhau i fynd o nerth i nerth gyda'r disgyblion i gyd yn elwa o fireinio amrywiaeth eang o sgiliau. ## Cywion Curig /Curig Chicks Nature trail at Ysgol Gymraeg Sant Curig, Barry.

GIVING parents of pre-school children an insight into Welsh language education is one of the aims of Ysgol Gymraeg St Curig's most recent projects.

Called Cywion Curig (Curig Chicks) it's an initiative to welcome potential parents into the school community, providing a playgroup facility for the toddlers while parents can chat over a coffee.

Cywion Curig, named by two Year 6 pupils Georgia Jones and Lowri Thomas, meet twice a week, on Tuesday mornings and Friday afternoons. It's run by St Curig school staff and parents are welcome to drop in for the entire session of just part of it.

Headteacher Sian Owen said: "Cywion Curig has been warmly welcomed by many parents. It's an opportunity to become more involved in school life and for parents to see for themselves what Welsh language education is like. Let's not forget, for non-Welsh speaking parents, entrusting their children's education to the Welsh medium sector is a big leap of faith. We appreciate that – and it pays dividends.

"I'd like to encourage anyone who has young children or who cares for young children, to come along. It's free of charge and is our way of introducing parents to bilingualism. The children have fun through playing, chanting and singing. But importantly they also hear the Welsh language spoken in a positive and happy learning environment."

Dwyddedd y pennaeth, Sian Owen: "Mae nifer fawr o rieni wedi ymestyn croeso cynnes i Gywion Curig. Mae'n gyfle iddynt ddod yn rhan o fywyd yr ysgol ac i weld dros eu hunain beth yw addysg cyfrwng Gymraeg. Mae'n ofyn mawr i'r di-Gymraeg i anfon eu plant atom i'w haddysgu. Rydym yn ymwybodol o hynny – ond mae'n talu ar ei ganfed.

"Hoffwn annog unrhyw un sydd â phlant bach i ddod i'n gweld. Mae'r clwb am ddim ac mae'n ffordd i ni gyflwyno dwyieithrwydd iddynt. Mae'r plant yn cael hwyli, yn chwarae a chanu. Ond yn bwysig hefyd, maent yn clywed y Gymraeg mewn awyrgylch deiniadol ac hapus."

Setting some solid Welsh foundations in Llantwit Major

Building solid foundations for life. Photograph courtesy of Colorfoto, Photography and Marketing Specialists

OPENING Llantwit Major's very first Welsh medium school in 2011 was a positive and much-needed move for the town.

For too long, parents wanting to educate their children through the medium of Welsh were faced with sending their children out of catchment to either Cowbridge or Barry.

But parental demand and the lack of spare places in neighbouring schools was such that the Vale of Glamorgan Council invested in a brand new school.

Named Ysgol Gymraeg Dewi Sant, it commemorates Llantwit Major's religious heritage as a focal point of Christianity for the early Welsh saints.

Phase One of the project saw the opening of the school with a nursery/reception class of 12 pupils in a demountable classroom on the site of Llantwit Major Comprehensive School.

In 2013, the demand was such that an extension was added for years 1 and 2 pupils. Next month, Phase Three will begin with foundations dug to accommodate a 210-place school and nursery for pupils of 3-11 years in a purpose built, state-of-the-art building.

The school will be constructed along the pioneering format of Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg in Barry, using a standardised template school design specially created to meet educational needs in the 21st century.

Capital funding for the project has been made available through the 21st Century Schools Programme which is 50 per cent funded by the Welsh Government. The new school will be open in September 2015 and will form the first part of the Llantwit Learning Community.

Helen Jennings, Headteacher, said: "It's wonderful seeing everything coming together in a thriving school. This school is here because parents have wanted it. Demand for Welsh medium education has been on the rise across Wales and the Vale and I am delighted that the Council and Welsh Government have responded so positively and appropriately to that demand. The vast majority of pupils come from non Welsh speaking backgrounds and it is amazing how quickly they become bilingual.

"From the foundations of our new building, we will continue to develop a strong community based school which lays down solid learning foundations for each and every one of our pupils."

Sylfeini Cymraeg cadarn yn Llanilltud Fawr

ROEDD agor ysgol gyntaf Gymraeg Llanilltud Fawr yn 2011 yn gam positif i'r dre.

I gael addysg Gymraeg cyn hynny roedd rhaid anfon plant allan o'u talgylch, naill ai i'r Bont-faen neu i'r Barri.

Ond, o ganlyniad i'r gofyn am addysg Gymraeg oddi wrth rieni a'r diffyg o lefydd gwag yn yr ysgolion Cymraeg eraill, mi wnaeth Cyngor Bro Morgannwg fuddsoddi mewn ysgol newydd sbon.

Mae Ysgol Gymraeg Dewi Sant wedi'i henwi i gofnodi treftadaeth hynafol Llanilltud Fawr fel canolfan gristnogol bwysig i'n seintiau cynnar.

Fel Cam 1 o'r prosiect agorwyd yr ysgol gyda dosbarth meithrin/derbyn o 12 disgybl ar dir Ysgol Gyfun Llanilltud Fawr.

Oherwydd y galw cynyddol ychwanegwyd estyniad yn 2013. Mis nesa bydd cychwyn ar drydedd rhan y cynllun, sef gosod sylfeini ar gyfer ysgol 210 lle gyda meithrinfa, ar gyfer plant 3-11 oed, mewn adeilad newydd pwrpasol a pharhaol.

Caiff yr ysgol ei hadeiladu yn ôl fformat arloesol Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg yn Y Barri, gan ddefnyddio templed o gynllun ysgol fydd yn addas ar gyfer anghenion addysgiadol yr unfed ganrif ar hugain.

Daw'r cyfalaf ar gyfer y prosiect drwy raglen ysgolion yr unfed ganrif ar hugain, yr ariennir hanner cant y cant gan Lywodraeth Cymru. Bydd yr ysgol newydd yn agor ym mis Medi 2015 i greu rhan gyntaf Cymuned Ddysgu Llanilltud Fawr.

Dwyddedd y pennaeth, Helen Jennings: "Mae'n wych gweld popeth yn dod at ei gilydd mewn ysgol sy'n fyfyrnu. Mae'r ysgol yma gan fod rhieni wedi ei heisiau. Mae'r galw am addysg Gymraeg wedi cynyddu ar draws Cymru ac yma yn y Fro a dwi'n falch iawn fod y Cyngor a Llywodraeth Cymru wedi ymateb mor gadaerhaol i'r gofyn. Daw'r ganran helaeth o'n disgyblion o deuluoedd di-Gymraeg ac mae'n rhyfeddod pam mor gyflym y maent yn dod i fod yn ddwyieithog.

"Wrth osod sylfeini ein adeilad newydd, mi wnaeth barhau i ddatblygu ysgol gymunedol gref gyda sylfeini addysgiadol eang ar gyfer pob un o'n disgyblion."

Dull newydd o weithio'n arwain at adeilad parhaol fforddiadwy i ysgol sy'n tyfu'n gyflym
MAE dull gwreiddiol o ddylunio adeiladau wedi galluogi i ysgol gynradd cyfrwng Gymraeg newydd yn Y Barri oresgyn rhwystrau strwythurau dros dro a symud ymlaen i fod ar flaen y gad o ran amgylcheddau addysgu modern.

Ers dechrau'r tymor mae disgyblion Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg yn elwa ar gynllun arloesol ynghyd â'r offer dysgu technolegol diweddaraf, ac yn cael digon o le parhaol i echangu i'w llawn botensial o ran nifer y disgyblion erbyn 2017.

Mae'r trawsnewid wedi bod yn bosib drwy fuddsoddiad o £2.7 miliwn gan raglen Ysgolion yr 21ain Ganrif Llywodraeth Cymru a Chyngor Bro Morgannwg.

Yn wreiddiol, roedd Ysgol Gymraeg Nant Talwg, a agorodd ei drysau ym mis Medi 2011 er mwyn bodloni'r galw cynyddol am addysg cyfrwng Gymraeg, yn wynebu'r posibilrwydd o dyfu fesul tipyn drwy ychwanegu ystafelloedd dosbarth symudol wrth i nifer y disgyblion gynyddu blwyddyn ar ôl blwyddyn.

Fodd bynnag, cafodd hyn ei osgoi yn sgîl penderfyniad yr awdurdod lleol i ddefnyddio templed cynllunio ysgolion safonol a thrwy hynny leihau ffioedd proffesiynol a chostau ategol eraill.

Mae hyn yn darparu strwythur parhaol newydd ar y safle, gyda lle i'r dosbarth meithrin, saith ystafell ddosbarth a chyfleusterau cwbl fodern am ddim o £310,000 yn fwy na chost prynu strwythurau dros dro ychwanegol, a fyddai wedi bod yn angenrheidiol.

Mae'r ysgol, sydd ar dir Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg, wedi profi twf cynt na'r disgybl o ran y galw am lefydd. Gyda 30 yn rhagor o blant wedi cychwyn y tymor hwn, roedd angen rhagor o le ar frys.

Esboniodd Jane Wade, Rheolwr Gweithrediadau'r cyngor ar gyfer Eiddo a Chyflawni: "Roeddenn ni'n mynd i gael ateb dros dro arall ond fe wnes i ddiwydddar darllen rhywbeth am sut roedd ysgolion yn dechrau defnyddio cynlluniau templed.

Gwnaeth hyn i ni edrych ar ffordd wahanol o gyflawni ac roedd posib i ni gael ateb parhaol am yr un pris mwy neu lai â'r ateb dros dro. Mae nid yn unig wedi arbed arian, ond hefyd wedi lleihau'r amser sydd ei angen ar gyfer dylunio, cynllunio a chyflwyno'r prosiect. Rydw i'n credu mai hwn yw'r cynllun cyntaf o'i fath yng Nghymru."

Cafodd y gwaith adeiladu ei hun ei droi'n brofiad dysgu i'r plant, gyda 'ffenestri' lfeil isel wedi'u torri yn y byrddau o amgylch y safle adeiladu, fel eu bod yn gallu gweld beth oedd yn digwydd y tu mewn. Hefyd, cyflwynwyd y plant i Ifor Safle Saff, sef cymieriad a oedd yn hybu negeseuon allweddol am ddiogelwch safle adeiladu. Bu'r plant yn gweithio gyda'r artist cymunedol Christian Ryan hefyd, i greu ffenestri arbennig ar gyfer yr ysgol newydd.

Aeth Mrs Roberts ati i dalu teyrnged i gyfraniad ei 13 aelod o staff, sy'n cynnwys pump athro ac wyth cynorthwy-ydd dysgu.

Dwyddedd: "Maen nhw wedi bod yn gefnogol iawn o'r dechrau ac wedi gwneud gwaith rhagorol o dan amodau heriol. Mae'n fflantastig ein bod ni'n mynd i gael ysgol newydd sbon a phwrpasol, gyda lle i dyfu."

Ysgol Iolo Morganwg pupils in the new IT suite.

An Apple (computer) a day...

FOLLOWING substantial investment, Ysgol Iolo Morganwg in Cowbridge has recently completed an exciting new IT project, which transforms the way in which pupils are taught.

Around £30,000 has been spent on installing an Apple TV system into classrooms and in developing a new IT suite in the previously unutilised roof space of the school.

The building work has been cleverly designed and supervised by governor Mike Pritchett, an architect by profession with EPT Partnership in Cardiff. Work was carried out over the summer and also included remodelling of a substantial area of the ground floor to create much needed additional and flexible teaching space.

The investment in the Apple IT system, complete with i-Pads for pupils, will enable teachers to deliver lessons, across all subjects of the curriculum, using the latest technology.

The school will access Hwb Plus, the all Wales learning platform, funded by the Wales Government. Using Microsoft Sharepoint, this allows pupils and teachers to upload and store work securely via cloud technology.

Owain Saunders-Jones, chair of the school governors resource committee, said: "The impact of our investment in IT at Ysgol Iolo Morganwg will be enormous. Children will become competent with IT through using it, practically, in all aspects of their schoolwork to enhance their learning. Each pupil will create his or her own webpage and will be able to communicate with the teacher via a school-based email account. The potential is truly amazing and will transform the experience of learning, equipping our pupils with excellent IT skills."

Buddsoddiad yn dwyn ffrwyth

YN dilyn buddsoddiad sylweddol, mae Ysgol Iolo Morganwg yn Y Bont-faen newydd gwblhau prosiect Technoleg Gwybodaeth bell-gyrhaeddol sy'n trawsnewid y ffordd y bydd plant yn cael eu haddysgu.

Mae oddeutu £30,000 wedi ei wario yn gosod system Teledu Apple i mewn i ddosbarthiadau a chreu ystafell Dechnoleg Gwybodaeth hollol newydd yn nenfwd yr ysgol.

Dyluniwyd a goruchwyliwyd y gwaith adeiladu gan Mike Pritchett, aelod o fwrdd llywodraethol yr ysgol sydd hefyd yn bensaer gyda Partneriaeth EPT, yng Nghaerdydd. Cwblhawyd y gwaith, oedd yn cynnwys ail-strwythuro rhan helaeth o'r brif adeilad, yn brydlon dros wyliau'r haf, gan greu dosbarthiadau dysgu ychwanegol.

Mae'r buddsoddiad yn y system Teledu Apple, ynghyd ag i-Pads i ddisgyblion, yn galluogi athrawon i gyflwyno gwersi ar draws y cwricwlwm gan ddefnyddio'r dechnoleg ddiweddaraf.

Bydd yr ysgol yn gwneud defnydd o Hwb Plws, platform dysgu Cymru sydd wedi'i ariannu gan Lywodraeth Cymru. Bydd Microsoft Sharepoint, yn galluogi disgyblion ac athrawon i uwchlwytho a chadw gwaith yn ddiogel yn y cwmwl technoleg.

Dyweddodd Owain Saunders-Jones, cadeirydd pwyllgor adnoddau y llywodraethwyr: "Bydd effaith ein buddsoddiad mewn technoleg yn Ysgol Iolo Morganwg yn enfawr. Bydd plant yn cyfarwyddo gyda thechnoleg gwybodaeth drwy ei ddefnyddio ar draws holl sbectrwm eu gwaith ysgol er mwyn ehangu eu dysgu. Bydd pob plentyn yn creu gwefan ei hun ac yn gallu cysylltu â'r athro drwy e-bost. Mae'r potensial yn anhygoel a bydd yn gwneud newid y profiad o ddysgu ac yn rhoi sgiliau technoleg gwybodaeth gwych i'n disgyblion."

Afiaith Sant Baruc

A NEW group for former pupils of Ysgol Gymraeg Sant Baruc was established in March 2013 by Dilyn Griffith and Gwenno Huws (former headteacher and deputy headteacher at the school.)

Both Dilyn and Gwenno were very frustrated that there were no opportunities for young people to socialise through the medium of Welsh after they left education.

And so they set up AFIATH (Adfer Fy IAITH - Restore my Language) as a means of providing opportunities to re-engage with the Welsh language and a means of reigniting old friendships.

It is rather like a school reunion but without the uniform or the rules! To date it has attracted over 80 members and is going from strength to strength. The meetings are totally informal with the main emphasis on having a good night out! Since its inception, the group has raised almost £1,000 for charity and there are plans afoot to organise a range of activities including a weekend trip to Llangrannog.

There is no need to worry if you haven't spoken Welsh for years - everybody worries about this - you will soon feel at home and you are guaranteed a fun evening.

Furthermore, if you now have children of your own who are pupils in any of the Welsh schools in the area, imagine how much more you will be able to help them with their education if you've got more confidence to speak Welsh yourself!

All in all, a win-win situation!
Our next meeting is a skittles night on Friday, October 10 in Barry Rugby Club at 8pm. All welcome...www.facebook.com/groups/AFIATH.

YM mis Mawrth 2013, cafodd grŵp newydd sbon ei sefydlu i gyn-ddisgyblion Ysgol Gymraeg Sant Baruc gan Dilyn Griffith a Gwenno Huws (cyn bennaeth a dirprwy yr ysgol.)

Teimlai Dilyn a Gwenno yn rhwystredig iawn nad oedd cyfleoedd i bobl ifanc gymdeithasu yn y Gymraeg ar ôl iddynt adael yr ysgol ac roedd hyn yn ddraen yn eu hystlys. Felly sefydlwyd AFIATH sef A(dfer) F(y) IAITH fel modd o greu cyfle i ail gyfarfod â hen ffrindiau ac ailgydio yn y Gymraeg.

Mae'n debyg i aduniad ysgol - ond heb wisg ysgol a heb reolau! Mae'r syniad yn mynd o nerth i nerth ac erbyn hyn mae dros 80 o gyn-ddisgyblion wedi ymuno gyda'r grŵp.

Mae'r nosweithiau yn hollol anffurfiol gyda'r pwyslais ar fwynhau! Ers ei sefydlu, mae'r grŵp wedi codi bron i £1,000 tuag at elusennau ac mae cynlluniau ar droed i drefnu amrywiaeth o weithgareddau gan gynnwys trip penwythnos i Wersyll Llangrannog. Does dim angen poeni os nad ydych wedi siarad Cymraeg ers dyddiau ysgol (mae pawb yn poeni am hyn) - cewch eich synnu pa mor gyflym y daw'r cwbl yn ôl!

Mae wir yn brofiad hyfryd i ddal i fyny gyda phawb mewn awyrgylch anffurfiol. Ac os oes gennych blant eich hunain erbyn hyn sydd yn mynd i un o ysgolion Cymraeg yr ardal, byddwch yn medru eu helpu nhw lawer yn well ar ôl ichi ymarfer ychydig ar y Gymraeg eich hunan!

Bydd y cyfarfod nesaf sef NOSON SGITLS ar Hydref 10fed am 8pm yng Nghlub Rygbi'r Barri - croeso i bawb.

www.facebook.com/groups/AFIATH.

"I was concerned that I would be the only parent that didn't speak Welsh and that my son's pace of learning would be behind his English speaking peers. This has not been the case and at the age of 6 he reads well in both languages." S Willis, Llantwit Major

"I had concerns regarding my daughter's ability to learn the terminology required in science and maths, but these have been dispelled, as she is able to explain to me what words mean and it's amazing!" E Griffiths, Llantwit Major

"Welsh medium education is all about supporting and building strong confident individuals. I love listening to my children speaking Welsh and have picked up a few words myself." Parent of St Curig, Barry

"My husband and I are English and as a linguist I was keen for my children to develop an ear for languages. It's wonderful to hear them speak Welsh fluently - they've picked it up so easily and quickly." Francine Ruckledge, Cowbridge

POSITIVE MOVES DUE TO PARENTAL DEMAND...

YSGOL Gymraeg Gwaun y Nant in Barry is set to double in size, due to the growth in popularity for Welsh medium education seen in the Vale, especially over the last decade.

The Vale of Glamorgan Council has approved a substantial investment programme of around £3,700,000 to ensure sufficient Welsh medium school places to meet parental demand. Capital funding for the project is available through the 21st Century Schools programme, which is 50% funded by the Welsh Government.

Currently, Ysgol Gymraeg Gwaun y Nant and English medium Oakfield Primary School are located on a shared site in the Gibbonsdown area of Barry.

The project will involve building a brand new school for Oakfield on the existing site of the schools. Their vacated building will then be remodelled to accommodate a two form entry school for Gwaun y Nant, increasing its pupil capacity from 210 places to 420 places. The school will grow gradually with 60 places in the reception class each year. In addition there will be a larger nursery area within the school.

The project will significantly improve the teaching and learning environments for both Gwaun y Nant and Oakfield and provide two schools that meet the educational needs of the 21st century.

Building work is due to start on the new Oakfield Primary in November to allow the school to move into its new premises in September 2015. Start and finish times for the two primary schools will be staggered to avoid traffic congestion.

Headteacher Rhydian Lloyd said: "This is an exciting time for Welsh medium education in the Vale. The growth in parental demand for Welsh education seen over the last decade has been astounding. I'm certain that the expansion of Ysgol Gwaun y Nant will have a positive impact on the Welsh language in Barry. New teaching posts will be created alongside the increased pupil intake, which has both economic and employment benefits. I'm looking forward to the challenges ahead and to welcoming even more pupils to the new, enhanced Gwaun y Nant."

Adeiladu ar dwf addysg Gymraeg

MAE Ysgol Gymraeg Gwaun y Nant yn Y Barri ar fin cael ei dyblu mewn maint oherwydd poblogrwydd addysg Gymraeg a welwyd yn y Fro, yn enwedig dros y degawd diwethaf.

Mae Cyngor Bro Morgannwg wedi cytuno buddsoddiad sylweddol o oddeutu £3,700,000 i sicrhau digon o lefydd mewn ysgolion cyfrwng Gymraeg i ateb y galw gan rieni. Daw'r arian cyfalaf o raglen ysgolion yn yr unfed ganrif ar hugain, yr ariennir 50 y cant gan Lywodraeth Cymru.

Ar hyn o bryd mor Ysgol Gymraeg Gwaun y Nant ac ysgol gynradd cyfrwng Saesneg Oakfield wedi'u lleoli ar safle ar y cyd yn ardal Gibbonsdown o'r Barri.

Bydd y cynllun newydd yn golygu adeiladu ysgol hollol newydd i Oakfield ar yr un safle. Bydd ei hen adeiladu yn cael eu ail-strwythuro i greu ysgol dau ddosbarth pob blwyddyn i Gwaun y Nant, gan gynyddu'r llefydd o 210 i 420. Bydd yr ysgol yn tyfu'n raddol gyda 60 o lefydd yn y meithrin pob blwyddyn.

Bydd gwaith adeiladu Oakfield yn dechrau yn mis Tachwedd i alluogi'r ysgol i symud i mewn i'r adeilad newydd yn mis Medi 2015. Bydd yr amseroedd dechrau a gorffen yn wahanol ar gyfer y ddwy ysgol i osgoi problemau trafnidiaeth.

Meddai'r pennaeth Rhydian Lloyd: "Mae'n amser cyffrous i addysg cyfrwng Cymraeg yn Y Fro. Mae'r twf a welwyd yma dros y degawd diwethaf wedi bod yn anhygoel. Rwy'n sicr y caiff ehangu Ysgol Gwaun y Nant effaith aruthrol ar yr iaith Gymraeg yn Y Barri. Byddwn angen mwy o athrawon ac yn derbyn mwy o blant, sy'n golygu swyddi newydd a buddiannau economaidd. Rwy'n disgwyl ymlaen at y siarlensau sydd o'n blaenau ac yn enwedig i groesawu mwy o blant i Ysgol Gwaun y Nant ac ei newydd gwedd."

What advice would you give to parents considering Welsh education for their children?

considering Welsh education for their children?

Go for it! Being able to speak two languages fluently is a gift and a huge advantage for future employment. Learning a language as a child is far easier than learning a language as an adult.

"I won't be able to help my child with homework" is a common barrier to Welsh medium education for non-Welsh speaking parents. How do you answer that?

The majority of our pupils/families are in this situation. Most homework tasks are sent home with an English explanation and pupils are encouraged to complete task independently as the work is a consolidation of the skills taught in class. Parental support and encouragement to complete tasks is what is important.

What three words best describe your school?

Inclusive, nurturing and exciting.

What are you most proud of?

Establishing a successful Welsh medium primary school in Llantwit Major that provides parents with the choice of having their children educated through the medium of Welsh within their own community.

In that time we have also seen pupils who are predominantly from non Welsh speaking homes becoming fluent in both languages.

Most of the parents choosing to have their child educated through the medium of Welsh want their children to be able to do something that they cannot. Learning to speak Welsh is much easier when you are a child and you are providing your child with additional skills and opportunities.

"I won't be able to help my child with homework" is a common barrier to Welsh medium education for non-Welsh speaking parents. How do you answer that?

We work with parents to ensure that they feel a part of their children's education. We hold additional parents' evenings where literacy and numeracy strategies are shared and discussed.

We provide bilingual pamphlets on developing reading skills and hold weekly parents' sessions 'Amser Stori' (Time for a Story) and reading workshops using story sacks. Our literacy and numeracy homework challenges aim to make learning fun and allows everyone to be involved.

Ysgol Pen-y-Garth gets a gold star for PE

YSGOL Pen-y-Garth has finished top of the class after their work in PE received a glowing report.

Sport Wales and the Association for Physical Education (afPE) are championing schools which recognise the importance of PE.

ActiveMark Cymru endorses schools that are committed to developing high quality physical education and school sport and for promoting the benefits of physical activity.

Chair of Sport Wales, Professor Laura McAllister, said: "We believe that schools play an essential role in building a Wales in which children are hooked on sport for life. We know the importance of being active to the future life chances of a young person, and that schools are central to providing every child with the physical skills and confidence to take part and enjoy."

Mr Owain Jones, the PE Co-ordinator at Ysgol Pen-y-Garth said: "We've worked hard this year on increasing pupil participation in sports by making strong links with outside agencies such as the Urdd and Dragon Sports, ensuring that PE is taught through a variety of fun activities to a high standard and identifying key areas to improve. The active mark is a celebration for all of our hard work here at Ysgol Pen-y-Garth."

Mrs Iona Edwards, headteacher, added: "There is strong evidence that children who receive high quality physical education within curriculum time, build a firm basis for future participation and achievement - and also do better in the rest of their schooling. At Pen-y-Garth we are very fortunate to have excellent sports facilities and members of staff who willingly volunteer to provide a variety of sporting experiences during and after school for our pupils."

Seren (aged 11) gives her perspective...

SEREN prepared this for a new parents' open evening at Ysgol Pen-y-Garth.

I WAS exposed to the Welsh language for the first time as a baby, when I attended Ti a Fi (parent and baby/toddler group) with my Mum, Dad and brother.

We lived in Caerphilly and the Welsh medium nurseries and schools had a very good reputation. At the age of 3, I moved to Sully.

My education continued in Welsh and I attended Cylch Meithrin Bethel in the mornings and Ysgol Pen-y-Garth in the afternoons.

My parents were not brought up in Welsh-speaking families and went to English schools. Myself, my brothers and sister were all born in Wales and my parents wanted to give us all the opportunity to be brought up bilingually for our future and for the future of our Welsh heritage.

Initially, they were

worried and had concerns about possible language barriers.

They had lots of reassurance from friends, other parents and teachers.

School homework, reading and English skills were their biggest fears.

I am pleased to say, these have not caused me a problem to date.

The school is very approachable and if there are any concerns there is always someone to speak to who can help.

If I was given Welsh homework and needed assistance I would often ask my parents in English and I would translate my work into Welsh.

If anything, I've found it beneficial not having Welsh speaking parents as my work has always been my own.

Any mistakes, I have learnt from and been able to correct where necessary. English is taught when you go to juniors, myself and my parents are comfortable with my progress.

Even though we do not speak Welsh at home with our parents, we are encouraged to speak and play in Welsh.

We very often watch S4C and my younger siblings enjoy watching Cyw.

They are learning so much from these programmes, like I did! Learning Welsh has given me the opportunity to take part in the Urdd Eisteddfod. I enjoy singing and I am a member of a Welsh choir outside of school.

I am so pleased that my parents decided to send me to Welsh school and I hope many more English-speaking families decide to do the same.

My eldest brother is in Ysgol Gyfun Bro Morgannwg and he feels that being brought up bilingually is making it easier to learn other languages such as French and Spanish.

I am looking forward to learning other languages too!

I am so proud to be Welsh and being able to speak the language is awesome.

Seren Russell, aged 11.

Lucy Owen's experience of Welsh medium education

WHY did you choose Welsh medium education for your son?

I believe Welsh medium education is the best way of cementing the Welsh language in the minds of children and giving them a firm grounding in it.

I also think there is something a little bit special about Welsh medium schools.

I think the language gives a special bond, and there's something about the education at Gabriel's school that seems to wrap around pupils and envelop them with a genuine Welsh warmth and closeness.

It's a small school and it feels like a family there.

Why do you think being bilingual is important?

I am hugely proud of being Welsh, of our heritage and culture and the language is a big part of that.

Being able to give the gift of the language to my son is a joy.

There are plenty of reports about the declining number of Welsh speakers, and I feel it's important to do what we can to ensure that it stays alive and part of our lives.

Passing it on to new generations will help that. Also, on a practical level, it can be a huge help in the work place and a real asset if Gabriel wants to pursue a career in Wales. Some research shows being bilingual can help you learn other languages too. So it's all good!

How did you personally find learning Welsh?

I've been a Welsh learner for more than a decade, and I'd love to say I've cracked it - but I haven't!

It is a challenge, and to get there you need to devote continued time and effort.

But the struggle I've had trying to get to grips with it later in life made me even more certain I wanted Gabriel to go through bilingual education.

QUOTES...

"As a non-Welsh speaker, I had initially worried that I could not support my children in their education. I can now say that I am involved with every aspect of their education and feel thankful to the school for this." Parent of St Curig, Barry

"I'm so pleased we chose Welsh medium education for our four children - it's fantastic. We're really proud of how easily they have become bilingual and we love hearing them speak Welsh together at home. We are Welsh and proud of our heritage and culture. We hope by introducing the language into our family now, it will go on for generations." Rhian Russell, Penarth

Rest in peace Rhoose library?

FOR those who have not had the standard response letter from Leader of the Vale Council, Coun Neil Moore, on the plan to turn Rhoose Library over to volunteers, here is the executive summary.

1) The council needs to save money.

2) Closing a library makes the council look really bad. The council wants to be fair.

So the council have decided to throw Rhoose Library under the bus.

Not closing it straight away, just getting rid of the librarians and then waiting for the crunch.

This is what Coun Moore means by keeping a library "open" as a community library. One without librarians.

3) Don't bother Coun Moore with awkward questions, such as:

"If Cowbridge has fewer people, a full-time library, more staff and the machines that go beep, why can the council only save money by axing Rhoose?"

4) There will be a consultation, which will be ignored. As the council is now making up policy as they go along, they have not yet decided when the consultation will happen.

5) Any communication before the consultation is going in the round filing basket. Did you not read point 3?

6) A community library can be established at any location. Are you paying attention now, residents of Cowbridge, Dinas Powys, Llantwit and Penarth?

7) There is no plan for failure, because Coun Moore can see no reason why the scheme won't work. Do not bother writing to point out the flaw in this reasoning (see 3 and 5).

9) In the considered opinion of Coun Moore, the primary function of a library is not educational, and closing a library will not have a significant negative impact on children's education.

All the books on how to do stuff, or what stuff happened when, or where stuff is or why stuff happens are not educational!

The reading schemes and story sessions and computer classes; they are not educational.

But if, by some freak combination of unforeseen events the inevitable happens and the library needs to close ... look, a classroom for Rhoose School. That would be educational.

Hurrah for the council!

Andrew Bailey, Rhoose. Coun Stuart Egan, Deputy Leader of the Council and Cabinet Member for Library Services, responds:

"This is a very challenging time for the library service in the Vale. A meaningful consultation on the implementation of the library strategy will take place this autumn.

"We want to hear from as many library users as possible during the consultation and all of the responses we receive will be considered."

Post Office anger

NOTE that MP Alun Cairns is angry at the prospect of the closure of the post office at Lloyds Pharmacy in Highlight Park, Barry.

Has he considered that his Tory Government's privatisation mania and sell-off to the highest bidder of our national assets like the Royal Mail, supported by their partners the LibDems, might have something to do with the loss of our local community services?

As he has invariably voted for the divisive policies of the UK Government, I for one, no longer invest any credence in his words or his expressed anger.

Marc Delaney, Barry.

Music festival comes of age in Cowbridge

THERE was a buzz of excitement surrounding Cowbridge Music Festival this year and the feeling that after five years it had really come of age.

It ended last Saturday as it had begun, with exquisite playing by a group of fine musicians. Septura, a septet of Britain's leading brass players, made the most of the excellent acoustics of Holy Cross Church, their transcriptions of Baroque and Romantic music delighting a large audience.

Musicians from all over Europe, from Iceland to Bulgaria, had made this the most successful festival to date. Among them were a number of Welsh musicians, including pianist Llŷr Williams, tenor Elgan Llŷr Thomas and soprano Menna Cazel Davies, whose performances were truly memorable.

From the excellent London-based swing band, King Candy and the Sugar Push, to the internationally renowned

KING CANDY.

Chiaroscuro String Quartet, the festival broadened its appeal with a rich variety of music.

The Bulgarian musicians, Tri I Dve, well known in Cowbridge, were a huge hit with the schools, their outreach concerts and workshops reaching 1,200 children in Cowbridge, Barry and Llantwit Major.

The organisers are greatly appreciative of the audiences and sponsors who made this year's festival such a success.

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO REPLACE FASCIAS AND SOFFITS?

Once fitted, PVC-U roofline products such as fascia boards and soffits need no maintenance, giving them a huge advantage over timber.

At Securahome, a costly mistake we see homeowners make is to leave it too late to install PVC fascias and soffits.

If your timber roofline is basically in good shape, you can save money by opting for an over cap. This involves fitting a 9mm fascia board on top of the original timbers.

Once the PVC is overlaid the wood, the timbers are shielded from the elements. As the board is only over capped on the front and bottom any damp can still dry out in through the top and back.

However, if you've left it a little longer and the timbers are rotten, then the only option is a full replacement. This involves removing all of the old fascia boards and soffits and replacing them with PVC-U ones that are usually 16-25mm thick.

Replacement is also likely to mean taking off the bottom few layers of tiles or slates to fit the boards, as the fascias butt the roof under the eaves.

As you can imagine, replacement is more time consuming and as a consequence, the costs of labour and materials increase. The advantage of a full installation is that it is thorough. The simple act of lifting the tiles, for example, can help uncover rotten battens or roofing felt.

Before carrying out any installation, a Securahome's estimator will carry out a full inspection of existing timbers to assess the best option to offer lasting value for you and your home.

As Kestrel Registered Installers, at Securahome we can offer extended guarantees of up to 35 years on roofline products.

Bethan, indeed, is a former Cowbridge Comprehensive pupil, while Nicole attended the school's local sporting rivals, Brynteg Comprehensive in Bridgend.

Rhoose FC exit the Welsh Cup

RHOOSE FC travelled to Port Talbot on Saturday in the Welsh Cup second qualifying round and surrendered their previously unbeaten run, losing to South Wales Amateur League side Trefelin 3-2.

Things didn't bode well as major motorway hold ups delayed the kick-off and meant that the away side needed to alter their intended starting line up. The home side took the lead early on and soon went two up with the Vale side seemingly losing their grip on the match. However, Rhoose fought back gamely in the second half and were getting the better of Trefelin. The pressure paid off when Rhoose won a penalty, confidently converted by Drew Fahiya. Rhoose pressed on and were unlucky not to be rewarded further following excellent approach work from Jemel Easter and Gianluca Palladino. However, Trefelin put the game beyond Rhoose's reach when they went further ahead 10 minutes from time when a defensive lapse led to an own goal. Rhoose got a consolation goal on the stroke of full time, but by then it was all over for the Vale side in this season's Welsh Cup campaign.

The Vale side hope to get back to winning ways this Saturday when they entertain Pontypridd Town in the Welsh League at Jenner Park - kick off 2:30pm. AP

Sully Sports beat Saracens

AFTER a tough couple of weeks for both Sully Sports RFC teams, the 1st XV welcomed Cardiff Saracens.

The weather was kind and stayed dry for the third week running, which meant all teams could look forward to some running rugby. The crowd were not let down, both sides putting their markers down early, and some ferocious tackling ensured a high tempo game followed, neither side giving an inch and trying different waves of attack.

The home side took early advantage as runs from man of the match Jon Blake and Jody Velda ensured Sully Sports kept the edge and maintained the advantage over this well drilled Saracens side. Saracens took control at the break down and turned over some crucial ball and kept up their attack, ensuring Sports had to work hard to defend their line. But some inspirational plays ensured they turned this around and hard work at scrumage saw them stay on top and come away with the win. Tries from Barry Phillips, Rhys Manford, Matt Phillips and Jon Blake, with conversions from Jake Williams, ensured the team maintained home advantage and ran out winners 33-21.

Squad: Dan Stillman, Adam Wheeler, Jody Velda, Jamie Griffiths, Gareth Foxall, Alex Szuchnik, Mike Angove, Barry Phillips, John Thomas, Ben Such, Jon Blake (c), Antony Williams, Rhys Manford, Dai Harris, Dave Stillman, Dave Weston, Damien Huggins, Matt Phillips, Jake Williams. GI

Gleemen perform
MAESTEG Gleemen male voice choir under musical director Alun Hodges, aided by accompanist Suzanne Hodges, recently performed in the harvest festival service at Dyffryn Chapel, Caerau, which raised £200.

On Saturday, October 18 the choir will be holding its annual concert in Maesteg town hall at 7pm. It rehearses in the British Legion Club, Commercial Street, Maesteg, on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7pm to 8.30pm; and welcomes visitors and new members.

Annual concert
MAESTEG Amateur

Operatic Society is putting on its annual concert in Maesteg Town Hall at 7pm from October 22 - 25. Addams Family the Musical will have the same principal artists that performed in the 'NODA best district and regional production 2013' with the show Jekyll and Hyde.

Aberkenfig WI
PRESIDENT Eunice Williams opened the Aberkenfig and District Women's Institute's meeting on September 10, the first meeting in the Len Evans Centre, by welcoming the members and a visitor Gina, who is originally from Russia.

Happy Birthday was sung to Sally Jones and Barbara Morris; the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The speaker, Jan Jennings, told us the history of hats, went through the large selection she had brought with her, and explained how they became everyday wear until the 1970s.

Victorian bonnets were introduced 150 years ago and that started the fashion of women wearing hats.

In the early 1900s large, heavily decorated brimmed hats required up to six very long hatpins to keep them in place. There is still a hat pin society which meets every year. Coco Chanel the French fashion designer was very popular and film stars also started trends. Bette Davies and Joan Crawford were two who made a real impact on fashion in their time.

Jan modelled all of her hats; some wartime hats were military in style, the Minnie Caldwell style hat from early Coronation Street episodes were popular in the 1950s, also in the 1950s and 1960s the big brimmed floppy hats became fashionable again.

Jan also had in her very large bag bowler hats, straw hats, pillbox hats, and a Russian spy hat which was waterproof!

Eunice gave the vote of thanks. The raffle was drawn and the competition for a small item beginning with the letter 'H' was won by Irene Burgess, with a little honey pot.

Aberkenfig and District WI meets in the Len Evans Centre, Heol Persondy, Aberkenfig at 2pm on the second Wednesday of each month.

The speaker for October, Mrs Joyce James, will talk about the origins of names, which should be interesting. New members and visitors are always made welcome. For further information, contact Dilys on 01656 725399, or www.cobwebs.co.uk.

Time out
TONDU primary school pupils from classes Taf and Usk will be at Tondur Methodist church tomorrow Friday, September 26, to view the exhibition displayed in the new community rooms. It is hoped that local residents will agree to be interviewed as part of the school's oral history project.

September 30 will be a non-school-uniform day. It is hoped they will wear green garments to celebrate the school's green (eco) day, and parents are asked to donate (£1) to help support the school's sponsored Ugandan child, Paskali.

anniversary of the liberation of s'Hertogenbosch by the 53rd Division of the Welsh Regiment in 1944.

In the mid 1980s Vince made contact with Angelika Puritchev from Stuttgart in a concert at Port Talbot. Vince, chairman of Porthcawl Male Choir, accepted an invitation to take the choir to Stuttgart.

Its performance was recognised as outstanding and Vince was invited to organise a concert in the Netherlands. Both Germany and the Netherlands have a male musical culture, which is financially supported by the German and Dutch Post Office enterprises.

This has been an annual event to celebrate the liberation of the city for 30 years.

Two years ago, Vince travelled with Cór Merched Cwm Llynfi (Llynfi Valley ladies choir) the first ever ladies' choir, and last year he took London Welsh rugby club choir, the first choir outside the Wales to perform in the festival.

This year he will be taking Bridgend Male Choir, to mark the 70th anniversary. Vince has also been involved with Bridgend Male Choir for 31 years and is a vice president.

Harvest gifts
Tynyrrheol Primary School's harvest assembly will be held on October 10 in the school hall at 9.30am and relatives of the children and governors are invited.

The school will be asking for donations of harvest gifts to be brought in nearer the time. If anyone knows of an elderly person in the community who would appreciate one of the harvest gifts, please send names and addresses to the secretary, Miss Crowle.

The hardworking PTFA are once again organising a Christmas shopping trip to Bristol on Saturday, November 22. Seats will be £15 per person, including a raffle ticket. Seats will be allocated on a first come, first served basis. Contact Mrs Graham.

Tenovus support
OGMORE Valley Male Voice Choir is holding its annual concert at Canolfan Bethlehem Centre, Commercial Street, Ogmere Vale on Saturday, September 27 at 7pm. The choir will be raising funds for the Tenovus cancer support charity. Contact John on 01656 841429.

Charity appeal
COUNTY councillor Gary Thomas, Mayor of Bridgend county borough, invites the public to a concert in All Saints' Church, Victoria Avenue, Porthcawl on Sunday, October 5 at 7.30pm.

The compere is Canon Philip Masson, Rector of All Saints' Church and the entertainment will be provided by the 'Voskresenije' vocal ensemble from St Petersburg, Russia.

They will be performing classical music from Rachmaninov, Handel etc along with traditional Russian folk songs. Also there will be traditional Welsh songs sung by Ieuencid Aelwyd, Porthcawl.

Tickets are £10 and the money raised will be donated to the mayor's charities - Macmillan Cancer Support, Bridgend Carers' Centre, and the Friends of Bridgend Youth Music.

Maesteg Town Hall

I HAD the pleasure of attending Cór Merched Cwm Llynfi silver anniversary concert at a packed Maesteg town hall.

Among dignitaries present were Huw Irranca-Davies MP and Janice Gregory AM with their spouses.

The ladies' choir, conducted by Paul Deenik, accompanied by his wife Laura, began with the Don Besig arrangement of As Long as I Have Music, followed by Suo-Gan, the song from the film Empire of the Sun, and Don't Stop Me Now.

The compere, BBC presenter Roy Noble had the audience laughing with his comments on scenes he had encountered, as he introduced the artistes on to the stage.

Then we had the fine tenor Trystan Llyr Griffiths, accompanied by local boy Ryan Wood and one of the oldest choirs in Wales, Caerphilly Male Voice choir, conducted by Paul, accompanied by Laura with Mansel Thomas's arrangement of Deus Saluti, Fantasia on Famous Welsh Airs, and Ar Lan Y Mor by Emyr James.

The ladies' choir returned with From a Distance, Nos Da and I will Survive.

The raffle was drawn during the interval by Roy Noble and then conductor Paul Deenik sang a solo piece with both choirs.

There was also a 13-year-old soloist, Ffion Bevan, who appeared with the ladies' choir and sang beautifully Castle on a Cloud in the medley from the show Les Misérables.

MONTE CASSINO VETERANS HOLD A LOCAL REUNION

A group of Welsh World War Two veterans - all members of The Monte Cassino Society - held a reunion in Llantwit Major.

Jim Morgan, who lives in the town, said: "Our average age is 92 and we hold the get-together annually.

"All four of us are members of The Monte Cassino Society who served in various branches of the Army in Italy during the first six months of 1944."

The Battle of Monte Cassino was a series of four assaults by the Allies against the 'Winter Line' in Italy with the aim of effecting a breakthrough to Rome.

The capture of Monte Cassino came at a high price with the Allies sustaining around 55,000 casualties.

The Monte Cassino Society comprises veterans and their relatives - the relatives, for understandable reasons, have taken on more of the organisation of the society as the years have passed by.

Earlier this year Jim was among those in the society who made a journey back to Italy to remember those who never made it home. The party numbered 105 and included 14 veterans.

Jim explained: "In May, those who were able, joined a party of veterans which travelled to Cassino to mark the 70th anniversary of the battles.

"The pilgrimage was organised by the society and was sponsored by the National Lottery.

"A moving service of commemoration was held in the beautiful cemetery overlooked by the monastery.

"This was attended by several thousand, including Prince Harry, who laid a wreath at the memorial.

"At an informal buffet lunch following the service the Prince insisted on meeting and talking to veterans individually. Everyone was impressed by his kindness and understanding."

Jim describes himself playfully as "ninety-one and a half" and says the National Lottery funds trips once every five years with some veterans looking forward optimistically to the next pilgrimage to Italy in 2019.

Pupils pick up prizes after summer in library

RIGHT: Cowbridge librarian Melanie Weeks with Morgan Frederick (left) and Jack Phillips.

YOUNG readers were congratulated last week at Cowbridge Library after taking part in summer activities, with prizes for five members.

Ceri Vaughan-Jones, a pupil at Ysgol Bro Morgannwg, received a prize for successfully completing the summer reading challenge.

The challenge involved reading six books, and then writing a review of each book. Ceri told The GEM that his favourite of the six had been Northern Lights, part one of Philip Pullman's 'His Dark Materials' trilogy.

There were also two competitions where children were asked to 'design a monster', and there were four prize-winners in this group.

In the four to seven age group, the winner was Morgan Frederick of Llanfair Primary School, while in second was Jack Phillips, who goes to Croesty Primary in Pencoed.

In the eight to 12 age group, the winner was William Andrews of Y Bont Faen Primary, with Nia Davies of Llangan Primary in second.

Rotary Bakeoff will aid world's needy

THE Rotary Club of Bridgend is holding a fun Bakeoff to raise funds for the supply of LifeStraw®, a portable water filter, to vulnerable ethnic groups in developing countries.

The entry fee is £2 and there will be one prize of a £25 cookware voucher in each of three categories: large cakes; small cakes (plate of six); cakes with an international theme. The overall winner will receive a trophy vase. Spectators welcome at £3 per head to include refreshments.

Bring your cakes to the Blandy Hall, Laleston, by 6.30pm on Friday, (September 26). Judging will begin at 7pm. For further details, contact Judy McCarthy on 01656 861984, or email jr.mc@virgin.net.

Romilly Quarter

CHURCH CONVERSION news update

Welcome to Romilly Quarter on Porthkerry Road in Barry. More than a century after they were built, we are converting the Church and Sunday School Hall to create 11 beautiful new houses.

ABOUT BROWNFIELD GREEN LTD...

We are a property development company who specialise in the restoration and sympathetic conversion of historic buildings.

At the heart of our company is a strong moral compass and a guarantee that we will never build on green fields. Every project we work on is a complete one off, and every house is unique.

We act as the developer and contractor which allows us to keep quality high – and provide people with stylish homes.

Modern homes with history...

We're creating modern homes for the modern lifestyle at Romilly Quarter. All the houses at the development will have spacious open plan kitchen and dining areas. Many have voluminous double height spaces, giving a fantastic sense of space, with galleried living rooms.

The quality and size of these homes will far exceed a comparable new build house; from 1 metre thick stone walls, to artisan stained glass, to an original Welsh slate roof, to an exquisite fine detailed feature facade. The conversion will provide all of the historic quality and period features of an historic building with the warmth and energy efficiency of a modern home - modern homes with history. They come with 10 year warranties too!

There will be 7 houses in the former Chapel and 4 houses in the School Hall, all with their own garden and parking.

...lots of history!

- These amazing Victorian gas lamps would have been the latest technology when the church was built. They have been carefully removed and will be repositioned in two of the double height spaces in the Chapel houses. What a feature!

- During the renovations we've also found the remains of an old coal range which would have been used to heat the church back in 1898. Fortunately the new homes will be much cosier, with Worcester Bosch boilers throughout the development and insulation exceeding current building regulations.

Join the Romilly Quarter mailing list to get exclusive access and information about the development, and gain early access on the open day - date to be announced shortly. Please e-mail lucy@brownfieldgreen.co.uk to be kept informed!

The Seaweeds leave it late to secure victory

Jake Thomas (left) and Jon Phillips (right) were part of the Porthcawl team that earned a win over Bridgend Sports on Saturday.

M A T C H E S between Bridgend Sports and Porthcawl rarely disappoint and this encounter was no exception, providing a fine afternoon's entertainment, as the Seaweeds eventually ran out comfortable winners.

The standard of play throughout the match was high and it was the visitors that had much the better of the early stages. With barely two minutes played, Porthcawl took the lead with flanker Gareth Davies notching his third try in as many weeks for a 5-0 lead, following an immense forward onslaught from the Porthcawl eight.

Barely three minutes later, the elusive Jordan Skidmore rounded off a brilliant move in which Dai James and skipper Lloyd Long were instrumental amongst the nine pairs of hands that moved the ball wide, and he rounded almost behind the posts for a try, converted by Jon Phillips, for 12-0.

Long, back after missing the first three matches, was immense for Porthcawl throughout the afternoon, leading from the front with a barnstorming display, along with No.8 Matt Davies who was also back to his best during the opening spell.

Sports did get their act together to get into the match with a deserved try by centre Lee Roderick, converted Ken Morris, just after Porthcawl prop Tim Lunn found himself in the sin bin for transgressing at a ruck, taking the score to 12-7.

As both sides showed an entertaining penchant for moving the ball in the superb conditions, a momentous break by Porthcawl lock Nick Nutman, that ripped through the heart of the home defence, culminated in Dai James coasting over for an unconverted try, as the half drew to a close at 17-7.

Shortly after the break, Porthcawl introduced prop Gavin Williams for Simon Curtis, who had his best match to date, and Connor Rees for Gareth Edwards at scrum half.

The fresh legs helped Porthcawl continue to make the pace in the second half, and fly half

Jon Phillips widened the gap as he slotted a 35 metre penalty to put the Seaweeds 20-7 in front, with young centre Jake Thomas showing maturity beyond his years outside Phillips.

After 60 minutes, Seaweeds prop Lunn fell foul of the referee again for his second yellow, and hence a red, to give the Sports a lift with the extra man for the remainder of the match.

This served to spur on the home side and they rapidly turned the match around to get within reach, as Dan James' quick tap penalty sent the strong-running Lee Roderick over for his brace for 20-12 and James Coles profited from James' scintillating break through the middle to score a well worked try. The Sports lack of successful goalkicking, however, left Porthcawl still three points in front.

With time running into last five minutes, Porthcawl having again taken the upper hand despite being a man short, and with Gareth Richards showing glimpses of his best support running, two great holes torn in the Sports' defence, first by Nutman then by hooker Jack Williams, saw Skidmore notch his second try for 25-17, to leave Sports needing two scores to win.

With less than a minute remaining, another ideal scrum position 30 metres out set the platform for Skidmore to round off a satisfactory personal performance with a beauty of a drop goal to conclude matters at 28-17, with a bonus point in the bag.

Seaweeds coach Rhys James allowed himself a satisfied smile at what was a well-deserved win by a side that is now starting to run into good form, in what is proving to be a very interesting division to be a part of this season.

'School of rugby' status awarded to Porthcawl Comprehensive

There was a festival of rugby for Porthcawl pupils (and teachers) as the school celebrated being awarded WRU rugby school status.

Bridgend Athletic youth make cup progress

B R I D G E N D Athletic youth played the first round of this years Welsh youth cup when they travelled west to Ammanford.

The Athletic youth had not played the Scarlets region club for a number of years and so they were something of an unknown quantity.

The game was played in excellent conditions and the wide pitch was perfect for open rugby and indeed the game was played in this way with the first 20 minutes being played at a high pace by both sides.

Despite there being no score in the first quarter there were signs that the Bridgend backs were looking extremely sharp and on at least three occasions the last pass went astray preventing the score being opened.

Up front the Bridgend pack were also beginning to put huge pressure on the home side, particularly in the line out where Matthew Bennett, Tom Seldon and Luke Williams were dominant providing excellent ball for young scrum half Dan James to feed the Bridgend backs.

In fairness to the Ammanford eight they were competing in the rucks and mauls but the Bridgend pack were in complete control in the set pieces, allowing James at scrum half to provide excellent ball.

This pressure told after 25 tough minutes when after an accurate line out and some excellent handling amongst the forwards the ball was moved from half backs to centres Tom Jenkins and Sean Wilcox to put speedy young winger Rhys Lloyd over near the posts for the opening try which was converted by number 10

Josh Carey to make the score 7-0 to Bridgend Athletic.

Almost from the kick off the Bridgend forwards took the ball back to Ammanford with back row forwards Ethan Davies, Matthew Bennett and Jeavon Bell combining and when full back Craig Lewis came into the line at speed there was nothing the Ammanford defence could do to prevent the try.

The conversion went wide but Bridgend were now 12-0 up.

The Bridgend 15 were now gaining confidence and beginning to run at the home team at every opportunity with the forwards and backs working in harmony, and the pressure again told just before the break when centre Tom Jenkins crashed over for the Athletic's third try which, when Carey made the conversion, took the halftime score to 19-0.

The second half started where the first had left off and a confident Bridgend were now in complete control.

A neck injury forced a change at back row when Jeavon Bell was replaced at 7 by Reuben Toozee, who was immediately into the action when a ruck on the Bridgend 22 provided ball for the excellent Dan James to make a scintillating break and run 50 metres into Ammanford territory.

He was caught by the defence but was able to offload to the following Toozee to score an excellent try after only three minutes of the second half. The conversion again went wide but the score was now 24-0 to the visitors.

It was clear that Ammanford were now becoming weary and Bridgend continued to batter the opposition line whenever they were in possession. Again this led to a breakdown in the Ammanford defence after five minutes when a period of 15 man rugby allowed centre Sean Wilcox to score the game's fifth try.

The kicking duties were handed over to left wing Liam Phillips who slotted the conversion to take the score to 31 - 0.

With great determination Ammanford tried to keep the Ath out, but the game was only going one way and when hooker Hywel Cosby went over to score his second try of the season with the extra points being added by Phillips, the score had gone to 38-0.

More of the same came the home team's way, particularly in the shape of young right wing Rhys Lloyd, whose pace was taking its toll on the tired defence and two quick tries from the winger to complete his hat trick, both converted by Liam Phillips, took the score to 52-0 and under the 50 point ruling the game was stopped with some 20 minutes to go.

Final score

Ammanford youth 0, Bridgend Athletic youth 52.

The whole of the squad were praised by the coaching team for a massive performance, but special credit must go to two first year players, scrum half Dan James and winger Rhys Lloyd, who were outstanding.

The Bridgend Athletic coaching staff of Tony Bennett, Gerwyn Wilcox, James Groom and Gavin Thomas were proud and delighted in the way their whole squad performed on the day.

P O R T H C A W L Comprehensive School, under the direction of Mr Gregg Davies (PE department), has been awarded 'WRU rugby school' status.

At a recent assembly, Mrs Hunt received the award from WRU development officer, Tom Cole.

He was joined by Ospreys' players Morgan Allen and Lloyd Peers, who himself was a former pupil at P o r t h c a w l Comprehensive School. The players held a question and answer session which was thoroughly enjoyed by the abundance of budding Ospreys' players among the audience!

The day ended with a 'Festival of Rugby' involving five teams of pupils, and much to their delight, one team of teachers, participating in a touch rugby tournament. It was great fun and enjoyed by all. We look forward to an exciting rugby season ahead.

Scorpions sign Wolves

S O U T H Wales Scorpions have signed two players from Aber Valley Wolves, the side who finished top of the Welsh Conference table this season.

Bradley Hill and Geraint Clarke both impressed for the Wolves and were selected for the Wales Dragonhearts side this year as a result.

Hill has played for the Scorpions in the past. Originally with Newport Gwent Dragons, playing with them between 2008 and 2011 in their academy sides, the 21-year old centre also played club rugby union at Caerphilly.

Casey meets rugby Ryan!

RYAN Bevington made a guest appearance at the Scrum Ready event recently in Llandarcy.

Ryan is an accomplished regional and international front row player, a level two rugby coach and an active grassroots coach at Porthcawl RFC. He is willing to share his insight, knowledge and experience in this crucial area of the game.

FINALS DAY SEES SOME EXCELLENT MATCH-PLAY ACTION AT ST ATHAN GC

ST ATHAN Golf Club's best golfers assembled at the clubhouse on Saturday, September 20, to compete in their annual club finals day.

The day was the culmination of various competitions played throughout the year and the outcome on finals day decided whose names would go onto the coveted competition boards.

The greenkeepers and their volunteers had worked tirelessly leading up to the event to ensure that the course was in pristine condition and the members were rewarded with the course presented tremendously.

All of the matches were match play format with the majority of them played over 36 holes. In the club championship there was a real see-saw contest. First BJ Hawkins went ahead and then Gerald Thomas; the match was all square after 18 holes, both players had managed to find an out-of-bounds but both still carded a gross 75.

Unfortunately for BJ, Gerald put his head down and dug deep, eventually finishing the game 4 and 2, securing the main title '2014 club champion'.

The plate final saw JWG Morgan and Pete Morgan square up, both long time members of the club and veterans of competing on finals day. JWG soon took the lead and ensured he maintained it; increasing his three hole advantage at the half way stage to 5 up after 21 holes before settling back to finish the game 4 and 3.

The Rabbits Trophy was won by Phil Lewis but not before a fight back from Mike Clark who was 5 down at the turn. Whether it was complacency by Phil or stubbornness by Mike, the game sat all square after 33 holes but Mike graciously accepted defeat 2 and 1.

Ethan Allison and Keiran Whilding came up against each other to compete in the 18 hole Dan Archer trophy;

Ethan was 2 up after nine before stepping up the impetus to finish as the victor by 4 and 2.

The Fairwood Park was the only team event, a four-ball better-ball format, saw Gary Bohun with playing partner Kyle Bladen snatch the title from Gerry Turnbull and Frank Bradshaw with a 2 & 1 victory.

The junior championship saw a match that was virtually all over after 20 holes but Josh Morgan must be congratulated for keeping the game alive; pulling back from five down! It looked as if the match would have to go down the 37th; however Rhodri Miskin kept his cool and holed a putt on the 36th to become this year's junior champion.

The ladies final was once again contested by Liz Thomas; she wasn't deterred after seeing herself go 5 down after 6 holes and managed to pull the match back to all square for a short time.

However Michelle Bligh, with her husband Lee on the bag, proved the stronger of the two, winning 3 and 1 and lifting the 2014 ladies championship title.

Experienced finalist Janet Davies faced a relative newcomer to golf, Gaynor Williams, for the Millennium Plate trophy. Gaynor, after leading for most of the game, was left to think 'if only' as Janet's determination paid off, resulting in her winning the match on the 18th hole.

The greens staff, referees, caddies and spectators must be applauded for the superb conduct they displayed; their reward was witnessing a true demonstration of exceptional golf played by all of the competitors throughout the day.

St Athan Golf Club welcomes new players and visitors; a function room is available for private hire and catering is available. For further information contact the club manager on 01446 751043.

Barry Seconds take the win against Quins

BARRY Second XV returned to action after a week's rest with Cardiff Quins the visitors.

Coach Rhidian Scott and manager Ken Chow, back after 3rd XV duty, were faced with a crippling injury list which forced them to delve deep into the squad. Eight players put on the green and white for the first time this season, and there was also a welcome return to action for John Haskell, who made the replacement bench.

The huge disruptions to the side's preparations were clearly evident, as poor defensive play allowed the visitors to go 14-0 ahead within the first five minutes.

Rattled, the home side finally got their act together under the leadership of captain Lee Jones, and produced a sustained period of pressure.

Their industry was finally rewarded when the ball was spread out wide, and the pace of Rhys Knapman took him beyond all would-be tacklers to the try line. Adam Lee failed to add the extras.

Buoyed by the reduction of the deficit, Barry poured forward to search for another score. With the forwards in the ascendancy, marshalled superbly by veteran scrum-half John Dimond, it was down to Paul Harrison who picked up from a ruck on halfway, before barging his way through defenders to score a memorable try. Lee converted to make the score 12-14.

Cardiff Quins were finding it difficult to handle the physicality of the Barry pack, but it was the inability to handle a high kick from Rhidian Mephram which saw Sion Vidal to profit from the error and score under the posts. Lee stroked over the conversion.

Barry did not let their grip of the game slip, and once again camped on the Quins line as they looked for the bonus-point try. After prolonged pressure, Josh Westall proved himself unstoppable from five yards as he powered over. The conversion was missed.

The visitors now realised that it was futile to try to compete up front against the powerful Barry eight, and resorted to using their speedy backs in an attempt to bring themselves back into the game.

With Barry down to 14 men after the sin-binning of Jones, they managed a converted try to bring the score to 26-21.

Barry responded by releasing their own set of backs, and ball was spread quickly out wide with Alex Evans the recipient, and he raced away to score in the corner. Lee failed to add the extras.

With all four substitutes now on for the home side, they came forward once again to threaten the Quins line, and this time it was Dave Evans who dived through near the posts, making Lee's conversion a formality.

The visitors did have the last say with a late consolation, but the day ultimately belonged to Barry who finished 36-28 winners as they secured a second successive bonus point victory.

This weekend the 2nd XV travel to Clwb Rygbi, while the 3rd XV host Taffs Well.

Team: Lee; Knapman, Flynn, A Evans, Mephram; McCann, Dimond; Corne, Vidal, Heard; Westall, Dutton; Harrison, Jones ©, J Evans. Replacements: Sullivan, Haskell, Harris, D Evans. Man of the match: Vidal. KC

Barry boxer has eyes on world title

LEE SELBY, the current WBC international, British and Commonwealth featherweight champion, recently met the Vale of Glamorgan Mayor at the County Library in Barry.

On display in the library is Lee's kit that he wore in October 2013 when he fought Ryan Walsh in his final defence of the Lonsdale Belt. He won the match on points in 12 rounds. Lee's next fight is in October in the O2 Arena, London, where he will fight the Australian boxer Joel Brunker in the final eliminator for the IBF world title. Brunker has won all of his 27 fights and has managed 15 knock-outs.

Lee said: "I know this is going to be a tough fight, but I feel confident in my ability to beat Brunker."

The Mayor, Coun Howard Hamilton, said: "I am sure all the people of Barry and the Vale of Glamorgan will be cheering for Lee and will wish him the very best of luck."

Annual Ploughing & Hedging Society ploughing match

'Don't mind us... we'll just plough on'

ON Sunday, September 14, the Vale of Glamorgan Ploughing & Hedging Society held its Ploughing Match at Tyn y Caeau Farm, Marcross by permission of Mr J Evans and family.

There were 47 tractors taking part, proving that the support for ploughing matches is growing throughout.

The chairman, Andrew Studley, thanked all concerned for the hard work put into organising the event and also all the competitors for making it a most memorable day.

The many spectators who turned up saw two teams of horses ploughing alongside all the tractors. They must have been the most photographed participants at the event!

The judges were K Davies, T Harris and A Lucas, and the results of the competition were:

Class 1 – Open Vintage Trailer Plough: 1st Gordon Harries (Pembrokeshire).

Class 2 – Open Vintage Hydraulic Plough: 1st Tony Bradley (Monmouth), 2nd Peter Kitchen (Monmouth), 3rd Ceri Richards (Carmarthenshire).

Fighters support charity

RECENTLY, the Cadoxton Schools of Tae Kwon Do attend a W.O.M.A.A. held fun competition to raise monies for Diabetes, hosted by Mal Johns and Leanne Emmerson.

The event was well supported with competitors from all over the UK in a friendly but competitive manner; there was a category for every competitor from beginners, intermediate, and advanced, with several Welsh and English title bouts also taking place on the day.

Fighting for Welsh title we had Cody Jacobsen, and competing in a title eliminator we had Thea Cunningham - both students took the fights at a week's notice. The title fights consisted of three, two-minute rounds, and Cody took his opponent all the way losing by one point in the final minute.

Young Thea Cunningham's bout was nip and tuck throughout the three rounds, Thea just losing out in the third round by two points. Overall the Cadoxton School had a good day, coming away with a total of nine firsts, 10 second and eight third places in all categories.

The Barry Saints stroll to victory to maintain their perfect start to the season

BARRY Saints welcomed G.C.A.W to Wenvoe and maintained their perfect start to the season with an 8-2 victory.

Saints striker Darren Townsend broke the deadlock after beating the offside trap and rounding the keeper to calmly slot the ball home. G.C.A.W were forcing the game looking for a reply which nearly came, only to find centre back Rhys Hocking in the way to clear off the line.

Saints began to dictate the tempo and Townsend took full advantage, bursting past his defender to open up his body and bend a shot around the keeper into the far corner.

Nathan Williams got in on the act after a trademark powerful run, latching on to a through ball to sidefoot under the onrushing keeper just before the halftime whistle.

Saints came out with a bang and Townsend grabbed another to complete his hattrick, as he used his chest to control a cross from Drew Burniston and lift a sidefooted volley over the keeper.

G.C.A.W grabbed a goal from a cross from the right which was finished with ease. David A Evans added his name to the list of scorers after beating the offside trap and emphatically sending the ball into the net.

G.C.A.W were then awarded a penalty after a handball which was converted expertly. Straight from kick off, a crisp passing move from the Saints gave David Evans the opportunity to strike a low powerful shot across the keeper which struck the post and crossed the line.

Townsend added his fourth after a good cross from James Rouse saw him finish with a low effort in to the bottom corner.

Michael Evans finished things off. Challenging for a bouncing ball, he beat his marker and was left one on one before rounding the keeper to tap home. Barry Saints would like to offer a special thanks to Nat, the owner of Orchard House, for his kind sponsorship helping the team going forward.

Weather doesn't impact on action at Llandow

ALTHOUGH the weather gods decided to play a trick on Llandow, with mixed conditions for what was supposedly a summer month, the Welsh club continued to produce fine action on-track as the championship moved into its second half.

With no Bambinos present, the assorted Cadet classes kicked things off, with Shay Keough and Max Fenlon sharing the heat wins in the IAME category. When it came to the final, however, Thomas Nippers – who had been denied by just 0.001secs in heat three – came through to surprise both, claiming a rare success, with Fenlon second and Connor Kearney third.

The Honda class was no less fiercely contested, with Austin Maddocks and George Alp-Williams taking victory in the heats, before Jack Fordham stole the honours in the main event. Alp-Williams crossed the line in second place, with Maddocks third, just behind lone Comer runner Shayne Clarke.

The Honda Junior races were dominated by Celtic champion Kristian Prosser and Welsh champion Patrick Hill. The latter opened the day with victory in heat one but thereafter had to play second fiddle to his big rival, as Prosser took the top step in the remaining races.

Behind them, Jack Bligh claimed third in heat one, before Ben Cutler took over the role of chief pursuer for the remainder of the day.

Junior and Mini Max once again ran together on-track, but there was no denying Rob Ellis who, after July's interruption, returned to winning ways in fine style with a clean sweep of all four outings in the Junior category. David Spiller and Tom Croydon gave chase, with the latter finishing as runner-up in the final, where Ceran Sokhi completed the podium.

Mini Max went the way of reigning Welsh champion Ethan Ling, who saw off the challenge of Riley Phillips in each race. Kieran Clarke and Jem Hempworth duelled over third spot, with the latter eventually taking the final step of the podium.

Junior TKM produced four different winners from as many races, with Ross Deal, Hugo Homes and Yousuf Ashraf taking a heat apiece before Alex Rees came through to again claim top spot in the final. Holmes and Ashraf completed the top three, less than a second behind the winner, with Deal eventually classified fourth.

Danny Griffiths continued his recent dominant form in Senior Honda, but was denied a third consecutive sweep of the day's action by being excluded from the opening heat. Undeterred, he bounced back to win the remaining races, including heading home Paul Saunders by some six seconds in the finale. Monty Gorringer claimed the final podium spot, denying Cristiano Nardone, who had celebrated victory in heat one earlier in the day.

In the absence of Tom Stride, July winner Dilip Singh proved the man to beat in Senior Rotax, taking heats one and three before repeating his success in the main event. Gareth Taylor proved to be Singh's closest opposition on this occasion, winning the remaining heat before chasing the victor home in the final. Sam Morgan chased Taylor to the line before rounding out the top three.

Llantwit Major Karate Club gains disability inclusion accolade

THE Llantwit Major Karate Club has become the first sport club in the Vale, as well as the first karate club in Wales, to achieve silver Insport accreditation level.

It is only one step away from achieving gold, which is the top award for inclusion in Wales.

Club sensei Simon Dodd commented: "As an organisation run by volunteers, it is great that we can still offer one of the highest levels of inclusion in Wales. Karate can have a huge impact on people's lives and I am proud we can serve the community in this way."

The Welsh Karate League has a disability category where people with a range of impairments can enter and take part in a competitive environment alongside the non-disabled participants.

The next league meeting is in Penarth Leisure Centre on Sunday, September 28 at 10am. Entry is free and everyone is welcome to attend.

Simon Jones, Disability Sport Wales Development Officer for the Vale of Glamorgan Council, added: "I think it's brilliant that so many clubs in the Vale of Glamorgan are aiming to be inclusive and provide activities for disabled people. The aim is to have a wide range of sport and physical activity clubs in the Vale that will go through the Insport process.

"This will give disabled people more choice in what activities they wish to take part in and hopefully get them hooked on sport."

Insport is a Disability Sport Wales programme, designed to support governing bodies, local authorities and clubs to provide inclusive, quality sessions for disabled people within their communities, and at a level of their choice and abilities.

Numerous clubs throughout the Vale of Glamorgan have already completed the accreditation scheme up to ribbon and bronze level including Vale Reds Football Club, Barry Beavers Swimming Club, Boccia Rollers, and St Andrew's Major Special Olympics Golf Club. More clubs are being encouraged to sign up so more disabled people can take part in sport.

If you are interested in your physical activity or sport club becoming inclusive, contact Simon Jones, Disability Sport Wales Development Officer for the Vale Council on 01446 704728 or sljones@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk.

Athletic youth in whitewash

BRIDGEND Athletic youth played their second league fixture and their first at home when they welcomed Tonmawr youth to Newbridge fields on a bright September afternoon.

Tonmawr youth were newcomers to the Ospreys A League and so were an unknown quantity to Bridgend Athletic but came with a reputation as being one of the toughest youth teams in the region.

The Ath had made a good start to the season and this game was seen as an important one in terms of the potential success in the league for the rest of the campaign.

Both teams fielded sides made up of first, second and third year players and this led to a very even game in the opening encounters with both teams prepared to run the ball on every possible opportunity.

The Athletic backs were however looking the sharper in the first quarter and only excellent Tonmawr defence and last gasp mistakes by the Ath prevented a number of tries being scored.

The Bridgend Athletic forwards were also looking strong and dominated possession for long periods, keeping Tonmawr pinned in their own half.

The pressure began to tell and Tonmawr were forced to concede a number of penalties for infringements around the rucks and mauls and when one such infringement was called in a kickable position, Bridgend number 10 Josh Carey stepped up but pulled the kick narrowly wide.

A further penalty attempt again missed narrowly but the Bridgend team were now pressing hard and when the ball was won in midfield and spread between the half backs of Tom McCardle and Josh Carey and centres Sean Wilcox and Tom Jenkins, full back Craig Lewis came into the line to put winger Liam Phillips into space.

The wing ran some 25 metres down the touchline but was caught with 10 to go. Fortunately some excellent support play by back row forward Reuben Tooze allowed Phillips to offload for Tooze to go over in the corner for the Ath's first try.

The conversion went wide to take the score to 5-0.

There were no further scores in the half, but the second half began with Tonmawr going all out to turn things around and they ran the ball at Bridgend on numerous occasions and it was clear they had not come to lose this game.

Bridgend's defence was being tested but again and again they showed great resolve with the forwards Eithan Davies, Luke Williams, Matthew Bennett and Reuben Tooze outstanding in the loose, and tight forwards Zach Evans, Cameron Thomas, Lloyd Rees, and Tom Seldon controlling the set pieces.

The Bridgend coaches began to make some personnel changes early on in the second period bringing on young scrum half Dan James for Tom McCardle and in the front row Hywel Cosby at hooker and prop Cian House.

In the backs wing Ben Jones was on for Liam Phillips and full back Jo Symons on for Craig Lewis who moved to centre.

The exciting James made an instant impact after good Bridgend forward pressure earned a scrum five metres out and when the half back picked up at back of the scrum he threw a brilliant dummy to dive over for an excellent try. Replacement wing Ben Jones slotted the conversion and Bridgend were 12-0 up.

Further replacements in the forwards saw back row player Jeavon Bell and prop Nathan Watts on for Bridgend to keep the momentum going, but again the gutsy Tonmawr team came at Bridgend at every opportunity.

Bridgend Athletic were too well organised however and would not concede a score and indeed they continued to dominate territory and possession, and with five minutes to go further pressure allowed the Bridgend backs to open up the Tonmawr defence and spread the ball to right wing Rhys Lloyd out wide.

The rapid winger needs no invitation to run and sprinted 30 metres to cross in the corner for the Athletic's third try. The conversion went narrowly wide but this was good enough to take the match to the end, the final score being 17-0.

Huge credit must go to the Tonmawr side for the massive determination they showed, but the Bridgend Athletic coaching staff of Tony Bennett, Gerwyn Wilcox, James Groom and Gavin Thomas were again delighted in the way their whole squad performed on the day.

This is another important win early in the league programme and is another great confidence boost as they continue the league season away this week at Waunarlwydd.

Golfers help raise money 'fore' charity!

A record number of 130 golfers took part in this year's Veterans Charity Day at St Athan Golf Club in aid of Age Concern Cardiff and Vale of Glamorgan, an event that has become an annual event, with many coming from around south Wales.

The first golfers teed off at 7.30am playing a four ball better ball stableford competition in rather inclement weather, but later we were blessed with good dry weather for the rest of the days play.

The winners were as follows:

First Mr T Graham & Mr R Husband (St Athan) - 46 pts, second Mr A Williams & Mrs G Williams (St Athan) - 46 pts (CB), third Mr M

Hurry & Mr C Sherman (St Athan) - 45 pts, fourth Mr G Bohun & Mr M Whilding (St Athan) - 43 pts (CB), fifth Mr R Davidge & Mr M Edwards (St Athan) - 43 pts (CB).

There were six 'two's' awarded, and the longest drive went to Mr T Warner (Cottrell), and nearest the pin went to Mr R Bland (St Andrews Major) on the sixth hole.

Later that evening a cheque for £2000 was presented to Mr G Bohun representing Age Concern Cardiff and Vale of Glamorgan by veterans captain Stu Jennings (pictured above). He thanked everyone that took part for their very generous donation.

Sincere thanks to all the local business for their sponsorship in another very successful day.

MP WADES IN TO HELP OUT LOCAL BOXING CLUB

THE involvement of Rhoose Amateur Boxing Club in the local community has been praised by local MP Alun Cairns.

Ex-professional boxer 'Barry Bomber' Michael Smyth and Lee Barratt are the men behind the club and Mr Cairns was given an insight into training techniques and financial challenges they faced.

"Clubs like this are vital to our communities, but they can often be confronted with substantial running costs and paperwork to operate," the MP said.

"The Rhoose club is a terrific example of the community helping youngsters from across the Vale. I will work with the 'Barry Bomber' Michael Smyth to ensure any potential funding and support can be accessed," he promised.

Chess players in good form

AT the final summer congress, Barry Chess Club was again well represented, with three players in the open section and a further two players in the under 1,500. This was a five-round Swiss style congress.

Craig Woolcock, Lee Davis and Nigel Ralphs were among the 16 competitors in the Open section. The eventual winner was Peter Ehsander from the Cardiff Chess Club who finished with 4.5 points from his five games.

Craig Woolcock finished in second place, earning four wins after losing his first match against Shayanna Sivarajasingham.

Lee Davis and Nigel Ralphs finished in equal fourth place on 3.5 points. Lee lost to Tim Kett in the final round when a win would have given him a share of the title.

Nigel remained unbeaten throughout the tournament but was awarded two byes during the weekend so he only dropped half a point from his three completed matches.

In the under 1,500 section, two of our newer players were among the participants. Stephen Bonotto and Jason Grice both had an identical score of 1.5 out of 5 and finished in equal ninth place. The key match here was in the final round when Stephen defeated Jason in the only all-Barry contest.

The main East Glamorgan League tournament has now started with wins for all four of our teams in the opening round.

The best result was seen in division one where the Camelots defeated a strong Cardiff Bishops side by a margin of 3.5 to 1.5. This seems even more impressive when the Bishops outrated us on every board.

The Bishops normally end the season in the top three so this augurs well for the season. The perennial winners of the title, the Cardiff Castles, started badly, only managing a draw with Nelson.

The Bosons are in second place after the first round of games having defeated a weaker Aberdare side by 4-1.

However if we hope to challenge for the title this year we need to win these matches by the maximum margin possible, so we will feel agrieved to have drawn matches against lower ranked players on boards 4 and 5.

The team to watch this year seems to be the North Cardiff Woodpushers who have seen their membership almost double with a number of new players and transfers from the Cardiff club.

In division three, we started well winning at Penttyrch by 3.5 to 1.5. We hope this team has now found its correct level and will not be fighting relegation again.

In rating terms we should have done even better as Martin Ricketts on board 5 will be disappointed not to have beaten Mike McLoughlin on board 5.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

FAMOUS RIDERS FROM THE VALE Neale Doughty

DAVID Neale Doughty, who came from Kenfig Hill, was a graduate of the Llangainor Hunt Pony Club.

He often competed against his friend Paul Hamer, who became a Welsh champion point-to-point rider, at local gymkhanas.

Although he never rode in local point-to-points, Neale set his sights on a racing career at an early age.

At the age of 10 he would go around knocking the doors of the houses in his village asking if he could ride the owners' ponies.

After a while, his father bought him a pony which he shared with his two sisters and from then on a career in racing was never in doubt, even though a doctor told him he would probably be too big to become a professional jockey.

Born in 1957, he quit his academic studies at the age of 17 to join Welsh trainer the legendary Fulke Walwyn at Lambourn.

Then after a period of time with Wilf Crawford and Bill Marshall, he was spotted by Cumbrian trainer Gordon Richards, who wanted him as a successor to Ron Barry.

It was when riding for Gordon Richards that he won the 1984 Grand National on Hallo Dandy, on whom he had finished fourth in the previous year's race.

Neale kept the 10-year-old Hallo Dandy on the outside of the course and clear of trouble throughout the race. A big jump at Becher's on the second circuit gained him a lot of ground and he landed in sixth place.

By the time the Valentine's obstacle had been jumped, Hallo Dandy and the favourite Greasepaint were clear of the other 21 horses who were to finish the race, then the largest number of finishers on record.

Another good jump at the penultimate fence gave Hallo Dandy the lead and he jumped the last fence two lengths clear of Greasepaint who, despite renewing his challenge, had to settle for the runners-up spot for the second successive year.

Doughty had a really remarkable Grand National record. Only once in 10 of his Grand National rides did he fail to complete the course. Before his success he had finished fifth, then fourth, then 12th, sixth, seventh, third and fifth.

In the void Grand National of 1993 he had finished sixth of the seventh finishers on The Other Hand, a horse he had high hopes of winning him his second National.

Neale, who rode his first winner at Perth in 1977, rode a lot of big race winners and these included Must Be Magic, Pountenes, Clever Folly, Noddy's Ryde, Lord Greystoke and Current Gold.

Students teach Athletic a lesson

LEFT: Jonathan Stokes charges through the Tondy defence for Bridgend Athletic seconds – they went on to win with ease, 38-7.

PICTURE BY GLENNSPORTS

C A R D I F F Metropolitan, playing down the slope, started at a fast and furious pace against a lethargic looking opening from Bridgend Athletic.

They failed to adjust to the pace of the game and after 15 minutes found themselves 17-0 down.

The first try after five minutes came when full back Lewis Morgan entered the line and ran outside the Athletic centres. The second try also came with a midfield break, this time by centre Chay Smith. Outside half Owen Thomas converted both tries and then added a penalty.

With the prospects of a cricket score at last the Athletic got their act together. Outside half Josh White then kicked a 30 metre penalty to put the Athletic on the scoreboard.

A good run by wing Rhys Ward Jones took the Athletic into the students' 22. They had been successful against Glynneath with rolling mauls and tried the tactic again. The students came in at the side and pulled down the maul, resulting in a yellow card for No 6 John Dawe.

From the resultant penalty the Athletic again used the same tactic. Once again the students collapsed the maul. Against Glynneath the referee awarded a penalty try for the same offence.

However, on this occasion, the Athletic coaches were astounded when referee Simon Mills lectured the students' captain and only awarded another penalty – no penalty try or even another yellow card.

To add insult to injury, when the students broke away he awarded them a penalty which Thomas goaled to put the students 20-3 ahead at halftime.

With the slope advantage the Athletic went straight on the attack from the kick off. From a touch on the Metropolitan 22 they set off on a rolling maul. Perhaps the first half warning had a salutary effect on the students as the maul trundled to the try line and flanker Dan Apsee peeled away to drive over wide out.

White added the conversion to reduce the deficit to 20-10. The Athletic had most of the second half but on a number of occasions were penalised inside the Metropolitan 22.

The game had been niggly with two full-on brawls taking place, with the referee, in this writer's opinion, failing to take appropriate action, and Thomas kicked another penalty to give the students their first victory of the campaign.

Athletic No 8 Dan Apsee was the Athletic man of the match with flankers' captain Sean Williams and Matthew Hillman the pick of the pack. Young scrum half Jake Williams and centre Chris Price were the pick of the backs.

The Athletic entertain high-scoring Swansea at Newbridge Fields this Saturday. The backs need to take a leaf out of the Metropolitan's who consistently attacked the gain line at speed giving their pack a chance to clean out quickly and set up the next phase of play. They will also need to start on the front foot or they will again be in a game of catch up.

BRIDGEND ATHLETIC 2ND XV 38 TONDY 2ND XV 7

The Athletic 2nd XV made it three wins from three games, crossing for six tries in claiming the scalp of derby rivals Tondy with a 38-7 victory.

The win was based on an excellent forward display with man of the match lock Jonathan Stoker leading the way, while forwards Nathan Holman and Iestyn Merryman playing out of position in the backs were the pick of the Athletic backline.

Wing Andrew Tyler crossed for an excellent individual try, while other try scorers were prop Wayne Fooks, lock Jonathan Stoker, scrum half Nathan Holman, wing Shaun Johnson and a penalty try; Nick Jones converted four of the tries.

PENCOED GET THE WIN AGAINST MAESTEG

WITH both Maesteg and Pencoed having won their opening Division 2 West Central matches, this game was to provide a little more insight to the league aspirations of the respective participants.

Home full back Ed Howley was the first to trouble the scoreboard operator with a penalty goal in the opening minutes.

Maesteg soon increased their lead with skipper Grant Epton picking a good angle to score halfway out, Howley adding the extras.

A further penalty goal from Howley gave the 'Old Parish' a 13 point lead on 20 minutes. The Pencoed reply was immediate, centre Lloyd Ryland running at the heart of the home defence deep in their 22 and quick ruck ball saw flanker Rhys Watkins cross wide out. Howley added another penalty and Maesteg led 16-5 on 32 minutes.

Pencoed then began to up their game and a dominant scrummage gave them the platform for their second try, the resultant penalty putting them into the home 22 where a 20 metre lineout catch and drive saw alert scrum half Kyle Barrett get the touchdown. Adam Williams added the conversion and Maesteg led 16-12 at the interval.

Hesitancy at the restart from Pencoed gave Howley the opportunity to step up and goal his fourth penalty, and only desperate cover defence from wing Glen Hiscocks stopped the home side from increasing their lead.

From this point in the match it became all Pencoed, with the pack raising their game, and driving play from Pencoed man of the match Ieuan Watkins and Rhys Pope gave them prime position, where once again a lineout catch and drive got its reward, player coach Aaron Halse the try scorer; Williams added the conversion to level matters at 19-19.

Williams added two further penalty goals which sandwiched a Tom Cross try scoring effort being ruled out, a TMO needed really for this one!

With the Pencoed scrummage now dominant Williams gave his side further breathing space with another couple of penalty goals, and Pencoed led 19-31 going into the final minutes of the match.

Pencoed were not finished, however, and a defensive turnover at a maul on their own line saw Pencoed sweep down field, and centre Ryland straightened on to a short pass from the returning Marc Davies to weave his way over from 22 metres for the bonus point try, much to the delight of the considerable Pencoed support, Williams slotting over the conversion for a thoroughly deserved 19-38 victory.

On Saturday Pencoed entertain Llantwit Ffardre in the first round of the WRU Swalec Plate at the Recreation Ground, 2.30pm kick off.

PICTURES BY JULIE HANOCOK

League Division 1 for a Pencoed 2nd XV which included a number of debutants.

Scott Griffiths got a brace of tries on his debut, further tries coming from Dai Pearson, Aaron Songhurst, Scott Narbeth, Luke Jones and Jamie Pensom, who also added three conversions.

With no league commitment on Saturday the team will probably seek a friendly match, ideally against a local club.

BRIDGEND SPORTS YOUTH 7

PENCOED YOUTH 15

In this fairly evenly matched Ospreys League encounter Pencoed came through with tries from Jacob David, Chris Cooper and Kyle Baker.

Captain Jac Picton led by example with a fine performance, with Jordan Fox shining in defence. On Saturday Pencoed youth entertain Nantyffyllon in another Ospreys League match.

SEVEN SISTERS LADIES 24

PENCOED PHOENIX 22

Pencoed Phoenix came agonisingly close in only their second match in the WRU National Premiership to getting their first win at this level.

Conceding early tries along with an interception try, Phoenix trailed 24-5 at the break with only a Natalie O'Shea try to show for their efforts.

The second half was a different story, however, with the superior fitness of the Phoenix side very apparent.

Galvanised by halftime replacements Amy Williams at outside half, and Becca Pope at prop forward Phoenix dominated the second half, and tries came from Nerys Lloyd, Leanne Burnell and Williams with a superb solo effort from 40 metres, regathering her own kick ahead to score under the posts.

Lauren Aitken added two conversions before time ran out on the Phoenix ascendancy. On Sunday Pencoed Phoenix host Skewen in the National Premiership, 2.30pm kick off.

Pencoed under-14s ran out 26-10 winners against a formidable Cowbridge under-14s side.

Sports just fall short

BRIDGEND Sports under-9s travelled to a sun-drenched Maesteg Celtic rugby ground for the 14th Clive Evans memorial mini rugby tournament on Sunday.

The Sports were placed in a pool with Bryncethin, Pencoed and Tondy. In their first game the Sports defeated Pencoed in a close, open game with the Sports scoring tries through debutant Alex Stimpson, Dylan Morgan, Mackenzie Dent, Thomas Chick and two from Rhys Wilson.

Pencoed were determined to make the game difficult for the Sports and ran in five tries, leaving the Sports holding on for a 6 - 5 victory.

The Sports then faced a strong Tondy side. Tondy scored a try from the off, but the Sports responded with a try from Ben King who charged his way through three players to score.

The sides traded tries, Dylan Morgan scoring for the Sports. With the sides tied running into the last couple of minutes, a combination of spilled ball, some missed tackles and a penalty allowed Tondy the opportunities they needed to take control of the game. Two Tondy tries followed to make the final score 4-2 to Tondy.

With only one side from the pool going through to the final, the Sports needed to win a do or die game against Bryncethin.

Both sides were now into their stride and the Sports scored first with a try from Mason Balmer. Bryncethin hit back immediately with a try.

Following some tight periods of play, the Sports youngsters found their tackling game at last, with tackling machine Dylan Morgan leading the way, followed by tackles from Alex Stimpson, Ieuan Pilliner, Iestyn John, Rhys Wilson, Thomas Chick and Thomas Coles.

Tries followed for Dylan Morgan, and a final try from Alex Stimpson resulted in a 3 - 1 victory for Bridgend Sports.

The Sports' path to the final was, however, thwarted by a tough Tondy side who ran out well deserved pool winners after defeating the Sports (4-2), Pencoed (4-2) and Bryncethin (3-2).

The Sports youngsters will have learned the importance of teamwork in both defence and attack.
